FIGHT DEATH AMID SNOW ON LONELY HIGHWAY

Arrivals In Glendale Tell Of Thrilling Battle In New Mexico

A thrilling tale of hardship and death in the snow-blocked passes of New Mexico is told by Waldo and Russel Mohr, on arrival in Glendale from Victor, Iowa.

Leaving Victor on December 4, in an Oldsmobile six touring car, they came via Albuquerque to Las Lunas, where they were advised to take the trail through Socorro.

At Magdalena, six feet of snow was reported, and at San Marcial they found themselves snowbound, with the streets full of cars and all hotels and private residences crowded with refugees and stranded tourists.

Buck Heavy Snow

After staying there over night, they set out with a party of seventy-four automobiles, to buck the snow. For fifteen miles the road was passable, they report, after which it was necessary to shovel the way, in the face of a terrific blizzard.

The first day they made eight miles. From Tuesday, December 11 to Saturday, December 15, they struggled along, gaining only a few miles a day. Meanwhile the food supply ran out and it was necessary to shoot a burro and eat it to keep from starving to death, and fence rails were torn down and burned. Previous to resorting to this means of sustenance, the party went for nearly two days on thin coffee, which was made from melted snow and the same grounds used over and over.

Eleven Deaths

Finally a group of thirty cars got together and torturously retraced their way to San Marcial—and it was good that they did so, for eleven members of the remaining party never reached sunny Southern California, giving their lives in a vain effort to penetrate the deadly snows.

Leaving San Marcial again on December 17, the Mohr boys finally managed to get through and arrived in Glendale none the worse for their perilous trip. They are at present staying with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. Gannon, of 318 West Colorado street.

BLAME GALES ON JAP EARTHQUAKE

Steamers Battle Way Across Pacific, Reaching Port Behind Schedule

TOKIO, Dec. 29.—Claiming that the storms on the Pacific and Atlantic oceans are all a part of the general elemental disturbances accompanying and following the great earthquake here, an article by a well known Japanese scientific writer appearing in Tokio today occasioned considerable comment.

Every American and all boats of other registry due in Yokohama for days have been late. Word was received today from the President Madison that she will be days late in arriving in port.

The President Wilson from San Francisco arrived with broken engines, due to the battering received in the Pacific storm.

Word was received here from Honolulu that the Canadian-Pacific liner Niagara had arrived there en route from Vancouver to Australia, after passing through one of the severest storms in the memory of the crew. According to the report received here, the passengers were required to wear their life belts for two days, while the storm was at its height.

Phone Company Seeks New Rates In L. A. and Vicinity; Claims Losses

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—The Southern California Telephone company, serving Los Angeles and vicinity, today filed an application with the State Railroad Commission requesting that the commission fix "just and reasonable" rates for measured telephone service in the southern city.

Up until now unlimited service has prevailed in the city of Los Angeles but the company desires to put into effect a system similar to that in effect in San Francisco under which a charge is made for all calls over a certain number which is fixed in the contracts according to class of service and rate.

The telephone company also asks that the city be zoned. Their application states that during the first ten months of 1923 the company lost $2,508,000 under its present system of rates.

The railroad commission recently denied an application of the city of Los Angeles for a reduction of telephone rates based on alleged poor service.

NOT ENOUGH 'GAS' TO ENTER HEAVEN

MANILA, Dec. 29.—Three army De Haviland bombing planes arrived this afternoon from Zamboanga via Iloilo, and Mindoro, having flown the 610 miles in six hours and thirty minutes' flying time.

Two of these planes had previously flown over the disaffected Moro region in Mindanao, stopping three days at Camp Keithley and giving the Moros their first sight of an airplane.

The first question asked by the Moros was:

"Did you see heaven?"

The aviators replied they did but could not enter because they lacked enough gasoline.

BANDITS RAID BANK, FIRE VOLLEYS

Loot Illinois Institution And Make Escape With $17,000 Currency

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Armed with shotguns, a gang of bandits sped into the town of Summit, Ill., near here this morning discharged several volleys of shots, then descended upon the Summit State bank and looted the safe of approximately $17,000 in currency.

Scores of townspeople scurried for cover as the gang of robbers invaded the town. Their shower of lead terrorized those nearby, who offered no resistance, until after the bandits had obtained their plunder and were hastening back to their machine.

JAPAN'S CABINET MEMBERS RESIGN

Yammamoto's Fall Blamed On Attempt to Assassinate Prince Hirohito

By DUKE N. PARRY
For International News Service.

TOKIO, Dec. 29.—The Yammamoto cabinet passed into history today.

Prince Regent Hirohito accepted the joint resignation of its members which had been placed in his hands a few hours after an unsuccessful attempt had been made upon his life by a young college boy.

The Yammamoto cabinet came into being during the earthquake days and was known as the reconstruction cabinet. Its days were numbered because of opposition from the powerful Seiyukai party but efforts were being made to keep it in power until after the marriage of the prince regent next month.

These efforts probably would have been successful but for the attempt upon the prince regent's life. Viscount Goto, minister of home affairs, assuming responsibility for failure to prevent the attack immediately resigned and later his cabinet confreres joined in offering their resignations to the regent as a mark of humiliation.

COOLIDGE TO STAY OUT OF ALA.

Intricate Primary Laws Are Given as Reason For President's Action

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—President Coolidge and his campaign managers have decided not to enter the Alabama primaries and contest for the sixteen delegates from that state, it was stated authoritatively here this afternoon.

The reasons for this decision, it was said, are the intricacies presented by the Alabama primary law.

Senator Johnson, California, has already announced his intention of entering the Alabama primary.

Coolidge Accepts

PIERRE, S. D., Dec. 29.—The signed acceptance of President Coolidge as a nominee of the state Republican majority has been received, according to a statement by the secretary of state this morning. The signed acceptance says:

"I, Calvin Coolidge, do hereby declare that if nominated and elected, I will qualify."

Hiram Johnson, Republican presidential candidate of California, also filed his acceptance and was placed in the independent column on the ballot, the majority filing having been denied by a decision of the state supreme court a few days ago.

MEXICAN REBELS CLAIM VICTORIES

Provision Train Captured In Battle With Federals, Guard Surrenders

VERA CRUZ, Dec. 29.—Capture of a provision train at Laguna, a small town near San Luis Potosi, is claimed by the rebels, who said officials of the train and the federal guard were also taken prisoner.

General Sanchez has issued a proclamation against private persons possessing arms or ammunition in the occupied areas, thus minimizing the danger of capture of the arms by enemies.

Revolutionary advices also report the defeat of the federals in an attempt to recapture Manzanilla under protection of cruisers. They met complete defeat at the hands of General Etrada, it is claimed.

PLAN CHANGE IN MELLON TAX BILL

Congress Members Will Alter Measure In Passage —Is Prediction

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The Mellon tax bill, proposing a horizontal reduction in taxes on incomes and far-reaching changes and simplifications in the general administration of the tax law, will be so revamped and rewritten during its long and torturous course through the 68th congress that neither Republicans nor Democrats were willing to predict today when congress will finally pass upon the reduction features.

It is safe to say that nearly every member of congress has his own ideas of what should go into a tax reduction bill. The Democrats are planning to introduce their own measure, adopting some features of the Mellon bill, but differing radically in other features, particularly as regards surtaxes, taxes on stock dividends and inheritance taxes.

Republicans Worried

The Democrats, too, according to present plans, will go further in reducing taxes on incomes below $10,000. Work on this bill already has been begun by Representative Garner, Democrat, of Texas, who will command the Democrats in their campaign in both houses.

Republican leaders, worried and harassed by evidences of Democratic solidarity and by the factional differences that can at any time wipe out the narrow Republican majority in either house, had about agreed today to split the Mellon bill into two distinct parts—one dealing with tax reduction and the other with purely administrative features. There is not so much controversy over the administration end of the bill, and they were hopeful that this matter could be quickly cleaned up.

MOROS SLAIN IN FILIPINO BATTLE

Island Police Open Attack On Chief Data's Men; Situation Grave

MANILA, Dec. 29.—Thirty-one Moros were reported killed in a battle with Filipino constabulary at Malundu in Lanao today.

According to a report received here, a detachment of 60 constabulary attacked the Moros under Chief Data, whose men had cut the telephone wire between Malandu and Camp Keithley. The Moros were unarmed except for spears and surrendered in an abandoned cotta.

No casualties were reported among the constabulary. The fight has fanned the fires of enmity to greater heights between the Moros and Filipinos and caused a grave situation in the Moro provinces.

Gas Cause of Three Seattle Fatalities

SEATTLE, Dec. 29.—Three persons are dead here today as a result of two separate cases of gas asphyxiation during the night.

When Neils Sorenson returned home from work he found his wife, Emily, lying dead on the kitchen floor of their gas-filled home. She had attempted to light the gas oven, but had fainted from a recent attack of illness and had been overcome while unconscious, it is believed.

Eric M. Johnson, 35, and Oscar Anderson, 43, were found dead in bed in the latter's room. Partially empty whiskey and beer bottles and the remnants of a lunch testified to the liquor party which evidently preceded their asphyxiation.

HUNT TRACES OF LOST DIRIGIBLE

Ships Comb Mediterranean In Search For France's Missing Zeppelin

By HARRY FLOREY
For International News Service.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—French, Italian and British destroyers and cruisers continued their search of the Mediterranean sea today without finding any trace of the lost French dirigible Dixmude, nor the bodies of any of the missing forty-nine persons who were on board.

It is generally believed that the giant dirigible lies at the bottom of the sea somewhere off the coast of Sicily.

Uninhabited islets in the Mediterranean and deserted coasts of Tunis, Algeria, Tripoli and Sicily are being searched for survivors, who may have escaped by jumping overboard with parachutes.

Belief was expressed in some quarters that the crew of the Dixmude may have mutinied and cast the body of the commander, Lieutenant Commander Duplessis De Grenedan, overboard, but this theory is not entertained in official quarters.

ARRESTS NEAR IN BAD MONEY PLOT

Federal Men Break Up Ring Flooding East With Spurious Notes

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Important arrests which will clear up a counterfeiting plot held responsible for the placing of between $500,000 and $1,000,000 in spurious $10 federal reserve banknotes were expected today by a picked squad of federal secret service men in Chicago.

The notes have been scattered between the eastern seaboard and the Rocky mountains. Five arrests already have been made, including two here and one each in St. Louis, Peoria and St. Paul, Minn., though the names of but two of the alleged conspirators have been made public.

"Beware of ten dollar bills of the Chicago branch of the federal reserve bank, series 7-G. The notes bear the picture of Andrew Jackson," reads the federal reserve bank warning against the new and dangerous issue of counterfeit bills.

"On the reverse side they are off color, being either a lighter or darker shade of green than the genuine note. Under the seal on the face side of the note is the number D-333."

SHASTA LIMITED ENGINE DERAILED

Passengers In Panic as S. P. Flyer Jumps Tracks In Kennet Tunnel

REDDING, Cal., Dec. 29. — Passengers on board the northbound Shasta Limited on the Southern Pacific railroad were thrown into near panic early today when a broken driving rod derailed the engine and brought the train to a sudden stop as it was entering the west end of tunnel No. 2, two miles north of Kennett.

According to reports received here the locomotive, mail car and baggage car left the track in the tunnel. No one was hurt, but the sudden stoppage in the tunnel greatly excited the passengers until they could be reassured.

The tunnel caved slightly at the scene of the derailment, it is reported. The accident occurred at 2:30 a. m. and the track is expected to be cleared by noon. In the meantime north bound passenger trains are being held at Redding and south bound trains at Dunsmuir.

World Conference to Solve China Muddle

PEKING, Dec. 29.—A second world conference in Washington to consider China's plight is being considered as a way out of the situation now faced by the Peking government, it was reported today. The gold franc dispute with France and the Canton customs seizure by Sun Yat Sen are so deadlocked that no solution is in sight. It is possible that China will ask that the dispute with France be referred to The Hague tribunal for decision.

U. S. Ship and 30 Men Lost In Black Sea

MOSCOW, Dec. 29—The United States shipping board steamship Conejos has been sunk in the Black sea with the loss of thirty of her crew, said a dispatch from Batum today.

LONE BANDIT ROBS TELLER AND MAKES ESCAPE

Gets $500 In Currency at Point of Pistol Then Vanishes In Traffic

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Threatening death with a revolver and a bottle of nitroglycerine, a lone bandit held up a teller in his cage at the Citizens' National bank at Fifth and Spring streets at noon today and escaped with a package of bills that will total $500 and possibly more, according to a report of the bank to the police.

Robert Wiley, the teller told the police that the bandit, a young well dresed man appeared at his cage with a revolver in a paper bag with the muzzle barely showing. The bandit told him to hand over a certain package of bills or he would kill him and then destroy the bank with the nitroglycerine. Wiley said he complied and in a flash the bandit was gone. The bank officials are said by the police not to have reported the holdup until half an hour later and then were unable to give a good description of the robber.

It was revealed that a depositor from a suburban bank was directly behind the robber with $15,000 to deposit. The robbery was conducted so quietly that the depositor did not realize what was taking place.

Escape With Payroll

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29.—Three two-gun bandits pistols in each hand, swept into the office of the R. E. Funston and company, fruit dealers this afternoon, lined up ten employes against a wall and escaped with a payroll amounting to $2,300.

GREAT LAKES IN GRIP OF WINTER

Zero Weather Hits Mid-West And Cities Shiver as Mercury Drops

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Winter stretched his long, blue fingers down from the northwest today, and the Great Lakes region and intervening territory shivered, stamped its feet and blew gusty, steaming breaths.

Eight below zero at Fargo, N. D., was accompanied by eight inches of snow, five of which fell in the night. Winnipeg had five below. Minnesota was somewhat warmer, with thirteen above, and skies clear.

Chicago thought twenty-seven above chilly enough, the coldest mark since last February.

In the west, weather was mild, with Denver enjoying it clear and cool, 50 above. South of Chicago the cold wave thawed itself out, becoming mild before Kansas City was reached.

KIN OF BRIDGER SUES FILM FIRMS

Famous Scout's Daughter Says Portrayal In Pictures Brings Disgrace

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 29.—Declaring the showing of the film, "The Covered Wagon," has resulted in disgrace to her name and raises a question as to her parentage, Mrs. Bridger Hahn declared here today she would push her suit for $1,000,000 damages against the Famous-Players-Lasky corporation and the Paramount Pictures corporation.

Mrs. Hahn, only living child of James Bridger, famous western scout and Indian fighter, filed suit in Wyandotte county district court against the two film corporations late yesterday.

In the picture she says her father is depicted as a heavy drinker, squaw man and leader in drunken carousals, while historical records show him to have been a man of upright morals, sober and industrious.

Social Events

Ye Gay Revelry

December ye twenty-eighth is ye nighte
When ye manor doors will be opened wide
For a frolic of olde yule-tide,
And ye who enter at eight of ye clock,
With faces masqued and raiment bright
Guard well the secret of whom ye be
Till the ringing bell bids all to see.
To find ye way 'twill not be hard
'Tis 923 North Brand boulevard.

Such were the invitations that brought a gay costumed company to the delightful social affair given last night by Mrs. Florence G. Catley, Misses Vesta and Irma Catley and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Hardy Thompson at the Catley home at 923 North Brand boulevard.

Hosts and guests were all in costume and masked and much merriment was enjoyed during the early part of the evening when identities were unknown.

Brilliant coloring and originality were happily combined in the many clever costumes, displayed most effectively on the background of beautiful holiday decoration, the artistic work of the hosts.

Soft lights from rows of red lanterns fell on the garden walks and driveway and shaded the comfortable porch, transformed by Oriental rugs and lounging furniture into a spacious drawing room.

In the reception hall, living and dancing rooms, the brilliant red of Christmas dominated the decorations. Slender pepper branches were used in profusion and showers of shining tinsel, red crepe paper and bright Christmas bells fell from the chandeliers.

A prettily decorated Christmas tree occupied one corner of the dining-room, shedding its soft light through the wide doors into the adjoining room, where a buffet supper was served late in the evening.

Across the table Santa Claus rode in his sleigh, driving one tiny reindeer, prancing over a field of shining snow, with miniature pine trees, candles, holiday cakes, bon bons and nuts surrounding it on every hand. At the four corners of the table were tall light standards bearing big red crepe paper floral shades. Above the table was a wonderfully artistic canopy of greenery, tinsel and artificial snow.

Old-fashioned dances were enjoyed by the merry company and just before the supper hour there was a favor dance, during which the women received either cunning, old-fashioned nosegays or long-stemmed crepe paper American Beauty rose buds, and the men wands, some with jesters' heads and others with a shower of red and silver as decorations.

Another decorative feature was the transformation of the stairway leading from the reception hall to the floor above, into a walk through banks of snow. Banks of cotton snow were heaped on either side, while the picture was completed by icicles of glass hung from the ceiling above.

Invitations were issued to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kirks, W. E. Hewitt, E. O. Slater, Mr. and Mrs. Molsted, Miss Molsted, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Announcement

Mr. and Lrs. James O'Neill Farrell of 1831 South Gardena avenue, entertained last night with an enjoyable informal affair complimenting their daughter, Mrs. Stephen E. Baird of Oakley, Cal., and her sister-in-law, Miss Sarah Baird of Memphis, Tenn., who will visit here until after the New Year.

The Farrell home was artistically decorated in a red and green color cheme, which was carried out in the Christmas motif.

A surprise feature of the evening was the announcement of the engagement of Mrs. Farrell's daughter, Miss Mildred McCoubrey, and Francis McClintock of Los Angeles, a former resident of Glendale. The wedding date has been set for February 2, 1924. The announcement was made by Mrs. Farrell late in the evening after the luncheon was served.

The evening was devoted to dancing and a social time. There were thirty-six relatives and friends present.

EXTRA DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The Corn Products Refining company has declared an extra dividend of seventy-five cents a share on its common stock plus the regular $1.50 a share distribution. The company has $50,000,000 in outstanding shares.

Unique Affair

The luncheon given by Mrs. J. H. Daugherty at her home 700 East Harvard, was marked by several unique features which rendered the affair most delightful. The luncheon was a "mothers and daughters" affair, the guests invited largely sustaining that relation to each other.

The table with tall red candles and Christmas tree was most attractive. Unique place cards bearing not the name of the guest but a descriptive title using the initials proved most amazing. A guest whose initials were M. E. S. found her place designated as "My Esteemed Sister," others were equally clever.

Ribbons attached the place cards to gift packages on the tree, which proved to be delicious home made candy.

The guests entertained by Mrs. Daugherty at this charming affair were Mrs. A. K. Crawford and daughter, Mrs. John Wilde, of San Francisco, Mrs. Mary E. Shropshire and daughter Mrs. Garfield Jones, Mrs. O. L. Kilborn and daughters, Mrs. Louise Creighton and Miss Laura Wilford Brown, Mrs. John Jackson and daughter Mrs. Bertha McKay, Mrs. I. H. Durfee and Mrs. Minnie Shoemaker of Indianapolis.

Entertains Class

Miss Maud Soper was hostess last night at her home, 1305 North Maryland avenue, to the Girls' Bible class of Casa Verdugo church, of which she is teacher, at their Christmas party. The evening was spent with games. Presents were distributed from a Christmas tree. Miss Soper was recipient of a handsome present from the class.

An entertaining feature was vocal selections by Miss Soper's uncle, John D. Davison, of Berkeley, who is their guest. Mr. Davison is 79 years of age, and has a remarkably fine voice for one of his advanced age. He sang in Japanese, the Japanese national anthem, and "Beautiful Japan." The latter song is a composition by American missionaries. Mr. Davison also sang "Where the River Shannon Flows."

Class members present were Misses Luella Wright, Erma Garber, Lucile Bruner, Gertrude Barnard, Lucile Scrivens, Ethel Leash, Cora Wood, Blanche Tollman, Alice Garber, Ruth Rames, Mary Woodke, Julia Goetz, Pat Bragstat. Guests were Misses Alice Green, Gladys Sharpe, Margaret Taylor, Messrs. O. M. Newby, John D. Davison and Julius Soper.

CENTRAL AVENUE BEING IMPROVED

Real Estate Dealer Tells Of Progress On Block At Los Feliz Road

"The widening of the block in Central avenue, between Los Feliz and Cypress street," says G. H. Seal, real estate dealer, who is in charge of the work for the property owners, "is of interest to citizens in that district, because the improvement is being done by private contract and will be completed within thirty days of the date the special permit was granted for the work by the city council.

"In this block the curbs are to be set back ten feet on each side, the trees in the parkway removed and gravel placed and rolled on the new surface. The width of Central avenue at this point will then permit of end-in parking on both sides of the street and provide unusual parking facilities for the new theatrical district being established on Los Feliz road.

"Every effort is being made to finish this work in record time. The selection of ornamental light posts for an unusually attractive lighting system so this block will be made a part of the Los Feliz 'white way,' will be made as soon as the improvements now under way are completed.

DEATHS---FUNERALS

HATTIE V. BAKER

The Central Avenue Methodist church was crowded to capacity yesterday afternoon for the funeral of Mrs. Hattie V. Baker, wife of Louis L. Baker, whose death occurred Christmas day at the family home at 1819 South Brand boulevard. Every seat in the church auditorium was taken and many friends stood during the service.

Such a profusion of floral offerings were received that it was impossible to find place for them all about the casket.

The services were in charge of Rev. V. Hunter Brink and Rev. Munger, former pastors of the Baker family, and Rev. Leo C. Kline, present pastor of the church.

Rev. Brink gave a most impressive sketch of Mrs. Baker's life and character, paying tribute to the beauty of her Christian life and her devotion as a mother, wife and neighbor. The invocation was made by Rev. Munger and Rev. Kline gave a short sermon.

During the service Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts sang beautifully "The Home of the Soul" and "No Shadows Yonder."

Pallbearers were D. C. Baer, H. L. Mitchell, C. H. Muhleman, J. L. Brown, R. J. Wallace and C. A. Bowen, all friends of the Baker family.

Members of the family present were Mrs. Baker's husband, Louis L. Baker; thre sons, R. B. Baker, Allen Baker and Leland Baker; two daughters, Mrs. Warren West and Mrs. Charles Klamm, and three grandchildren, Gertrude Klamm, Ethel West and Hattie Hyer.

Referee Bryan Picks All-State Prep Football Team Puts Howard Elliott at Fullback and Horri at End

OFFICIATES AT CONTESTS AND SO 'KNOWS' PLAYERS

Phillips and Bud Elliott Put on Second Team; Hansen of Bakersfield Selected for Center and Field General

Referee A. E. Bryan, one of the best known gridiron officials of California, is the latest man to take a chance on picking an All-California prep football team from schools that are affiliated with the California Interscholastic Federation. His choice is published today in The Evening News.

Referee Bryan's selection should have the careful attention of every follower of the sport in the state. He is an official of many years' experience, and is a member of the Pacific Coast Officials' association and the National organization. He has had the opportunity of witnessing practically every team in the state in action, and is probably better posted on high school football than any other man in California.

He is a man of absolute fairness, and his selections have been made on merit alone. Howard Elliott at fullback, and Horii at end make places on his first team, while Phillips and Bud Elliott are placed on the second eleven.

"In addition to my selections for the two teams," said Mr. Bryan, "there are many players who should receive honorable mention, but I hesitate to start this list. There has been a superfluity, almost of good fullbacks this year, more stars being turned out of this position this year than any other."

By A. E. BRYAN
Member of Pacific Coast Officials 'Association

To choose an all star interscholastic football team of the state not only requires some knowledge of the game and the requirements of the candidates for their respective positions, but it also takes a lot of nerve.

The sport has improved so much and there have been so many good boys turned out the past season that the picking is tough and gets tougher as we go along. There are so many boys deserving of mention that it is impossible to give them all their just due.

I have officiated for some two dozen of the state's best high schools and have also been privileged to witness some of California's best teams in action. Twelve or fourteen of Southern California's best teams have listened to my decisions and a like number in the north, but the south places more men on the all-star team than their northern rivals. The northern section places one man, the central section four and the southern five.

Horri of Glendale

For the ends of my team I choose Freear of Bakersfield and Horii of Glendale.

In this boy Freear we have a fast, sure tackling end—a boy whose work did not shine so brightly from the spectators' view, for he is not a spectacular end, but one of those boys who is always in the right place and knows what to do when he gets there. He is fast on going down on punts, an excellent receiver of forward passes, and is a tower of strength on the defence.

On the other side of the line I am putting this little Oriental boy, Horii. It would be much easier to tell of the things this boy can not do than to tell of the ones he can do. Only weighing 130 pounds, yet built like a little Jack Dempsey, this boy is the greatest all-around end in the high schools of California. He hits like a bullet, is as fast as lightning and has a football heart and head. He is a marvel on losing his man on forward passes and has covered Elliott's punts like no one but Horii can do.

Murrel as Tackle

The tackle choice is a sticker for we have had a lot of good, rangy tackles weighing around 190 pounds, and with many of them there is little to choose between.

I give the call to Murrel of Santa Monica and Robsky of Bakersfield. Murrel, the colored boy of Santa Monica, is a long-armed, rangy boy with a fighting heart. He is strong on defence, and a power in making holes in his opponent's line, and he didn't care whose line it was either.

Murrel has a good running mate in this boy, Robsky. This boy, like his team mate, has been a big factor in his team's success this year. He is to tear holes in Long Beach's line and again in San Francisco against Lick for the title rounded out a great success for a great tackle.

Next comes the guards and I am nearly stumped again for like the tackles there is a ten-acre field of them. But my choice of all the boys falls to Penn of Long Beach and McClelland of Pasadena. Oh! Brother, how these babies do charge. Strong on defence, good on interference and always fighting until the last gun is fired.

Hansen for Center

WHOM DO I PICK FOR CENTER? Well, I think if you were to ask every coach, official, or newspaper man in the state who is familiar with the players, that they would all agree on Hansen of Bakersfield. I personally think this boy is so good that had he been on Andy Smith's squad instead of Bakersfield, he would have beaten Horrell out of his job, and take it from me, brother, that is saying a lot.

On defence he plays end, tackle, guard, half and safety; and also a neat little job between spells at his own position. The man who called the "loose center" a "roving center" must have seen this boy Hansen rove. If I miss all the rest I know I am right on this boy.

Chooses Burke at Quarter

Some critics may not agree with me on my choice of quarterbacks. Were I including teams not in the C. I. F., I would have to choose Janicki of Los Angeles High as this boy is the last word in quarterbacks. However, I am confining my choice to the C. I. F. so I am giving this signal-calling job to one Burke of Bakersfield. This boy is fast, a whizz on defence, and a good passer, but the best of all his qualifications is that he is a cool, heady signal man and a field general. Just when things looked the toughest for his team this boy would pull them together with that unexpected play at the psychological time. Had not Crane of Lick-Wilmerding been injured early in the season he would have run Burke a race for the honors.

Strong Backfield

In the call for halfbacks I give it to Murphy of Berkeley and Caldwell of Bakersfield. Murphy in my opinion is the best half in the high schools of California. He is good on defence, and also on forward passes; but his main recommendation is gaining yards with that old ball, which little feat wins a lot of games. He is always smart in picking his holes and if there isn't a hole he immediately makes one. He is one of the hardest men to get off his feet I have ever had the pleasure of watching perform. Caldwell, however, is not far behind Murphy and with this pair of halves I would expect a touchdown every five minutes. Caldwell is a sure and a hard tackler and his some thousands of long end runs this year has placed him in the honored class.

"Breezy" Elliott, Of Course

Last but not least, comes the fullback, and I will have a lot of supporters when I choose Howard Elliott of Glendale. This boy weighs less than 160 pounds but when he is in the mole skins he can do more with that one-sixty than any one I have seen perform this year. He played safety on defence, and the way he carried back punts was wonderful to watch. He broke up enough forward passes to entitle him to a small size crown.

On the offence he'd take your breath away. Here are a few things he excels in: Hitting the line, running the ends, running interference, forward passing, place kicking and punting; and if I have forgotten anything he does that, also.

I hear he expects to enter U. S. C. and if he does he will be worth his weight in gold to "Gloomy Gus" Henderson.

As captain of this mythical team I give the honor to Hansen of Bakersfield.

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM

Being still so full of Merry Christmas, it is somewhat difficult to get within operating range of a typewriter, even with our sylph-like figure, but the boss would have hysterics if this column failed to function, so here we are slaving away in our overfed misery. Chances are the paper would fail altogether if this collection of misinformation didn't appear. In that case Glendale might forget all about the bond election next month and there wouldn't be any sewer. Maybe you wonder what sewers have to do with the sports page. Well, it will be a bum lot of sports who neglect to vote January 8, one way or the other, according to their convictions.

Cast your optics on the vital statistics. Brick Muller, christened Harold before his hair began to grow, was a Christmas eve victim of Cupid. Bernice Berwind, a recent graduate of California, stopped the brick top in his attempt to score as a bachelor. You remember Brick. He used to mess around with a football and had something to do with the downfall of Ohio a couple or four seasons ago at Pasadena.

Gibbons, the gent who stayed fifteen rounds with Dempsey at a place then called Shelby, Montana, but since renamed ‖%!¼?—by the boys who put up the coin for the match, feels lucky and wants to meet Firpo, the gent who stayed not so long with Dempsey but who furnished more entertainment while present. Our opinion is that Gibby will not be pleased with the introduction and what follows.

Democrats On Top

Dispatches from New York, the village where a commission rules who is champion regardless of accomplishments, rumor that the present head of the boxing commission, William Muldoon, is a Republican and due to be succeeded early in the year by Edward Curry, Democrat. The same dispatches say that Curry and other new members-to-be will place the commission on an all-Democratic basis, one that may make possible a Dempsey-Wills match in New York. The incumbent commission has hitherto opposed mixed color bouts, but apparently Democrats have no scruples in this respect. Perhaps the time will come when champions will be appointed by the political party in power. Who knows? If it has gone so far as the rumors indicate one may expect to see Dempsey disqualified and Bull Montana proclaimed champion by the next boxing commission if Jack gets careless and votes the wrong ticket.

Another thing that seems queer: If the life of an umpire is so hard, as it would appear on the surface, then why should over 400 otherwise sensible men try to get berths in the Pacific Coast League as umps for the coming season? There is a growing suspicion among the prominent members of the Jawbone society that the said umps have been kidding them and holding out something on the public.

Wladek Zbyszko is a wrestler's name, not what the baby said, and Zibby is a considerable sized man, as all know who have seen him wrestle. Amelia Zbyszko is five feet plus a fraction and weighs not quite that much, but according to court records Zibby desires to divorce himself away from her on account of her "cruel and abusive treatment." Strong stuff comes in small bundles, as the bootlegger said.

Reports of the opening day race meet at Culver City, Cali-Ferris, say that "Sam Reh won handily and going away." Why is Sam going away when the races have just started? Maybe he wants to quit while he is winners.

Dakota's Boast

North Dakota busts into print with the news that they golfed and tennised there on Christmas day. As a Californian, don't you get a terrific kick out of that news? The only way California can bust into print about it is to have some snow. That which is news in the east is old stuff here.

Behold the sad plight of an ex-champion pugilist, James J. Corbett, alias Gentleman Jim and Smiling Jim. Here was a dethroned champ who for a time managed to keep stomach and hunger separated by touring on the vaudeville stage for Mr. Orpheum. But now he has indeed fallen upon hard ways. Driven by desperation he has taken to the Ziegfeld Follies and when last heard from was boxing instructor to eighteen or twenty chorines, the kind Mr. Ziegfeld knows how to pick. Wattawoild! Wottalife!

Football Coaches In Annual Convention

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 29.—Football mentors from all sections of the United States today gathered here for the annual meeting of the American Association of Football Coaches. Their convention came on the heels of the N. C. A. A. convention which closed last night.

The morning session of the coaches today was devoted to discussions of official rules and a few minor changes were suggested. They all seemed well pleased at the present status of the game and with regulations which govern it.

The coaches were scheduled to finish the day with a banquet at a local hotel tonight.

U. S. Skating Team May Be Increased

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Dec. 29.—The prospect that the American Olympic skating team may be increased from four to six men after the final tryouts at Mirror lake this afternoon, was evident as the result of the victories scored yesterday by Valentine Bialis, the local skater. The latter, named as one of the alternates, won two of the three races held, beating all four of the first stringers, Jew-Traw, Moore, Kaskey and Steinmetz.

Seaplane Races Will Be Held at San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 29.—International seaplane races for the Jacques Schneider trophy will be staged at San Diego in 1925, it was decided at a conference held at the local Chamber of Commerce today.

B. Russell Shaw, vice-president of the International Aeronautical association of the United States arrived here today from Washington to participate in the planning of the seaplane races.

According to Shaw, who has traveled extensively throughout Europe observing and studying aeronautics, no European country has at present a seaplane that could successfully compete against an American plane at present, therefore the plans are being laid for 1925, when it is expected that improved planes now being built in Europe will be completed for the contest.

May Bar Some Of Prominent Athletes

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The decision of Willie Ritola, the national distance running champion, to compete for Finland in the Olympic games, may result in legislation that will bar from the American Olympic tryouts all athletes who have not taken their first papers here. This statement was attributed today to Frederick W. Rubien, secretary of the A. A. U., officials of which look with disfavor upon foreign athletes getting their training in America, only to return to their home countries for the games.

He cited cases of Hans Kolehmainen, who competed here from 1912 to 1916, and then won the 1920 Olympic marathon for Finland; T. Tuomikoski and Eino Leino, also of Finland, and Peter Trivoulidas, of Greece, as others who had set the example for Ritola.

FIGHT RESULTS

AT NEW YORK—Sailor Freedman, Chicago, got decision over Johnny Clinton, New York, ten rounds; Irish Johnny Curtin, Jersey City, got decision over Frankie Jerome, New York, ten rounds; Mike Ballerino, Bayonne, N. J., got decision over Mickey Brown, New York, ten rounds.

AT MILWAUKEE — Ernie Goozeman of Milwaukee, defeated Joe Burman, Chicago, ten rounds. Sammy Craydon outpointed Walter Grayjack, six rounds. Big Benn from Moco, six rounds.

AT DETROIT—Henry Leonard and Clarence Rosen fought ten rounds to a draw. Johnny Clide knocked out Tommy Doyle, four rounds. Eddie Franklin defeated Bobby Keane, ten rounds.

PALMS TEAM ARE AFTER VENGEANCE

Rally Strong Team to Storm White Sox Stronghold in Sunday Game

Palms-Culver City make their second pilgrimage of the season here tomorrow, and will attempt to atone for the defeat handed them the last time they made an appearance on the White Sox lot.

But they will find an entirely different team awaiting them than they did last Turkey day. With the exception of Doran and Doc Crandall, there is not a man on the Glendale squad that faced them on Thanksgiving. The team that battled eleven innings to a tie with Sawtelle last Sunday is the best that has represented Glendale this season. The visitors will be rather overshadowed by the appearance in the White Sox line-up of George Walsh, former Brooklyn player and movie star, who is making his last appearance before departing for Rome to play the lead in the filming of "Ben Hur." George threw a wicked ball at one time in his career, and has been working out with the locals for the past month. He is always in good shape, and will be able to fill left field with credit.

Watching Whitaker

Local fans are very anxious to see Whitaker in action. He saved the day last Sunday by striking out two men in the eleventh inning, and, with a little hitting strength behind him, should be able to turn back the visitors. "Chicken" Hawks will be at first again, with Carl Sawyer at second. Carl was too busy last Sunday to cut up many capers. An extra-inning game is not the place for monkey work, but Carl worked in a few funny stunts. Doc Crandall and Smith will complete the outfield. Adams will again do the receiving. After poling a homer last Sunday, he was passed intentionally twice by Barnaba, much to the disgust of the fans. But Wally Hood instructed the southpaw what to do, and "orders is orders." His strategy was correct in both cases, as Arnold Crandall, who followed Adams, proved an easy out.

Strengthen Team

But, at the same time, Palms has not been asleep. They carry such players now as Ping Bodie, famous fence buster; Pete Schneider, the only Angel gardener who is apparently sure of his job next year, and Red Smith at shortstop. Chuck Leathers was signed the past week. The White Sox expect to fatten their average at the expense of the visitors.

On Tuesday the tie game with Sawtelle will be played off. While of course many will be attracted to the Navy-Washington football game in Pasadena, the races at Culver City and Tia Juana, there will be enough fans left to make a respectable showing. These two teams put up the best battle of the season last Sunday, the game being called on account of darkness at the end of the eleventh inning with the score 4-4.

Both Sunday's and Tuesday's games are called at 2:15.

Legion Pin Artists Take Three Straight

In the Fraternal league games on the Recreation alleys last night the American Legion, league leaders, made a clean sweep of three games from K. C.'s No. 1, and the Odd Fellows won two from the K. C.'s No. 2. McCarthy of the K. C.'s No. 2 was high man of the evening with 578.

Cancel Engagement As Menace to Career

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Marriages and careers do not mix, according to Leonard Wood, Jr., son of Governor-General Leonard Wood of the Philippines, who has announced the breaking by mutual consent of his engagement with Miss Dolores Graves, of San Francisco, an actress and a member of the stock company of which young Wood is the head.

COMPEL POST TO CALL OFF BOUTS

Underhand Tactics Used to Balk Legionnaires Boxing Program

After arrangements for extra seats had been made, and the headliners practically signed for the battle, the New Year's card which was to have been staged by Matchmaker Tom Kennery of the Hollywood American Legion for the Glendale post had to be abandoned, owing to opposition, it is stated, from sources that could not be denied.

It seems that other organizations engaged in similar activities resented very much that Glendale was to stage this holiday show, and in some way reached a few of the participants, who thereupon demanded such purses, guarantees, percentages or salaries, that their appearance was out of the question.

A hurried conference of the American Legion officials was called, and it was decided that, rather than present a mediocre card, the whole show should be called off.

Bouts Called Off

The Legion had no intention at this time of entering the boxing game as a business, but merely wished to stage this show to obtain money to increase their building fund. They were going to give everyone present his money's worth, and if they would not do this, are to be commended for calling the whole thing off.

There are at the present time too many shows of poor calibre being staged in Los Angeles county, and the fans who dig up their good money to attend very often give the management the razz. It was with this in mind that the Legion decided not to go through with the thing.

At the same time they do not consider it very sportsmanlike for the opposition promoters and followers to throw stones in the path of an organization like the American Legion, be it Glendale post or any other post.

LEGION TOSSERS OUT AFTER FLAG

Glendale Post Basketeers to Wage Bitter Fight for Title in League

With the holiday period practically over, the Glendale American Legion basketball team will get down to the real business of the season, following their win over Victory post of Los Angeles last Thursday night.

Glendale makes no secret of the fact that they are out after the championship of the County Legion league this year. They missed it last season through losing the first two games of the schedule. After this start they swept through the league without losing a single game, but Santa Monica copped the flag, owing to the locals' poor start. Things are different this year. They have won all league games so far, most of them by overwhelming scores.

Plan Practice Game

On January 2 they will play a practice game with a local team. On January 3, Thursday of next week, the most interesting game of the season so far will be staged with Santa Monica, last year's champs, and contenders again this season. On January 7 Southwest University will show their wares, and the following Thursday night Huntington Park will journey here for a league game. All these games are to be played in the high school gymnasium, starting at 8 o'clock.

The following men will represent Glendale throughout the season: Brown, Legett and Wheelon, center; Austin, Dick and Hubbard, forwards; Bunker and Meach, guards.

Story About Tobacco Was Not Authorized

There appeared in The Glendale Evening News of December 28, on page 5, a brief story under a Sacramento date line in which it was stated that Dr. Fred F. Gundrum, vice-president of the State Board of Health, frequently advises patients to indulge in tobacco after meals.

The story appeared in The Glendale Evening News without the approval of the publisher. Its contents are not approved by him. He does not use tobacco in any form himself and while not, of course, attempting to dictate to or form the personal habits of others, is not in sympathy with propaganda advocating the use of cigarettes, such as the story appeared to be. Had he seen the story in question it would not have appeared, but would have found its way into the waste paper basket.

THE GLENDALE

David Butler, who plays an important role in Viola Dana's new Metro picture, "A Noise in Newboro," now at the Glendale theatre, had to figure in an exterior runaway scene as the party of the first part. He was a skeptic about such things, but isn't any more. The proprietor of a Los Angeles hardware store cured him. As Butler came running by, the hardware man dived inside the store and came out with hardware—shooting irons. He raised the gun to a level with his eyes.

"Don't shoot, you fool," cried Butler, raising his hands above his head.

Five acts of standard vaudeville will be presented at the Glendale tonight.

THE GATEWAY

A cafe which is one of the landmarks of San Francisco was closed to its patrons for one night and turned over to Thomas H. Ince's film company for the "shooting" of a big cabaret scene for "Her Reputation," a picture featuring May McAvoy, now showing at the Gateway theatre.

Habitues of the place, gathering outside the cafe to find out what the disturbance was that was depriving them of their midnight refreshments, became wildly excited when a squad of "movie officers" made their appearance and broke in the doors of the cafe. One person put in a riot call for the police.

The attraction at the Gateway Sunday is Bebe Daniels' "His Children's Children," a Sam Wood's Paramount production. She is supported by a cast of well known screen stars.

Club Names Omitted From List By Error

Lyman P. Clark, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Sewer Publicity committee, states that, through an oversight the names of the Rotary and Exchange were omitted from the list of the organizations named on the map of the proposed sewer system, as having endorsed the project. These two clubs, Mr. Clark states, were among the first organizations to go on record as favoring the sewers.

Both the club and private insurance detectives, as well as the Glendale police, have been notified and early recovery of the car, as well as prosecution of the thief is promised by the officials.

FACTS AND FIGURES PROVE GLENDALE'S BIG NEED OF COMPLETE SEWER SYSTEM

Officials Point Out Why City Must Vote Bond Issue to Secure Health Protection and to Continue Great Growth and Full Prosperity; Project Is Much Cheaper Than Annexation

Glendale must either vote the $1,600,000 sewer bonds or face annexation to Los Angeles, declares Councilman Sam Davis, who, with Mayor Spencer Robinson and the members of the City Council and other forward-looking Glendalians, have sponsored and pushed this movement from the start.

With an adequate, up-to-date sewer system assured, the city will attain a population of 100,000 in three years, experts predict. Without such a system, Glendale must ultimately beg mercy of Los Angeles and be absorbed.

Therefore, the sewer bond campaign, Councilman Davis asserts, must meet the annexationists on their own ground and defeat them with cold facts. At a recent meeting held by the Glendale Foothill Improvement association in the Grand View school, he produced a series of arguments backed up by figures that were so conclusive they made determined bond voters of practically everyone present.

Official Minutes

Councilman Davis read to the audience copies of the official minutes of the Los Angeles City Council, as taken at the time in 1922 when an annexation committee from this city presented their plea to the Angeleno city fathers.

These minutes showed conclusively, in black and white and beyond any argument, that in the event of annexation, Glendale would have to build its own system of intercepting mains and laterals, and that the earliest sewer service that could be promised was one year from date of annexation, in the business district, while no date could be set when the rest of Glendale might be connected up with the Los Angeles system.

These minutes showed furthermore, that Glendale would have to float a local bond district, even in the event of annexation, in order to get a sewer system even in the business district. They showed many other advantageous features of the Los Angeles annexation offer, that served to open the eyes of many annexationists and convert them to the proposed bond issue.

Important Figures

But most convincing of all was a set of carefully checked figures presented by Councilman Davis, based on a population of 60,000, showing that in the event of annexation, the people of Glendale would assume their just proportion of 3.36 per cent of $71,155,500 in taxpaying bonds, or $2,148,896, which is more than the total cost of the proposed sewer system, or $35.81 per capita; and that in addition they would assume $22,000,000 of tax-exempt bonds, nevertheless a liability, or an additional $11.07 per head; making a total of $46.88 per head which the people of Glendale would immediately assume under annexation, while the total per capita cost of building the proposed $1,600,000 sewer system is only $26.67 per head.

These figures proved to be compelling, and upon conclusion of Councilman Davis' remarks many who had been more or less annexationist in tendency saw that by going in with Los Angeles they would be shouldering a heavy debt, with a great deal higher tax rate than at present, and without the very sewer system they are certain to get under the present plan.

Judging from the numbers of questions asked and from the satisfaction expressed over the clear replies, it can be safely stated that when Glendale people understand the sewer matter in its various angles, they become heartily in favor of it. On the night of December 18, the occasion of the public mass meeting called to explain the sewer project to all Glendale, it is urged by Mayor Robinson and Councilman Davis that every resident of the city who does not thoroughly understand every angle of this great forward-looking project be present as a civic duty and obtain the enlightenment that will make his vote a sewer bond issue.

Chester A. Smith, engineering expert for the firm of Burns & McDonnell, who are making Glendale's preliminary sewer survey, addressed the meeting of the Foothill Improvement Association Tuesday night of this week, declaring that his organization had never before experienced a city of Glendale's size totally without a sewer system and stating that generally it is considered a serious enough matter when a community reaches 10,000 population without adequate disposal facilities.

Taking up each of the five Lippencott proposals of a year ago, Mr. Smith analyzed them and showed why they were not practical for Glendale.

Going into some detail on Pasadena's sewer farm problem, he showed that the system was unsatisfactory at the present time and giving a great deal of trouble, in addition to requiring constant large outlays of capital to maintain.

The fact that cities so located as Glendale must ultimately form metropolitan sewer districts, as is done in Boston and other eastern cities, was stressed by Mr. Smith, who pointed out that Fullerton, Anaheim and a number of surrounding communities have already formed such a district, with Santa Ana as their consolidation point, while Linwood, Watts and communities in that neighborhood are forming such a district at the present time.

The Pacific ocean is the one and only natural sewage outlet for Southern California, Mr. Smith told his audience. All other arrangements were makeshifts, he said, and would in the end prove costly, insufficient and unhygienic.

Future Growth

The impossibility of predicting the future growth of such centers as Glendale was stressed by Mr. Smith, it being pointed out that three years ago it was believed by experts that the city would attain a population of 40,000 by 1940.

It was for this reason, he said, that the present plan calls for a system, connecting with the Los Angeles outfall, of such capacity as to care for a population of 1,000,000 in Glendale and surrounding communities, while allowance is made for 20 per cent in excess of an ultimate Glendale population of 240,000.

The election called for January 8 is to authorize the $1,600,000 in bonds will be the only bond issue in connection with the sewer, Mr. Smith stated. It will cover the construction of the entire system, with the exception of the laterals, which will be constructed under the assessment district plan, at a nominal cost.

With a flow provided of sixty gallons per capita per day, on a basis of 1,000,000 population ultimately utilizing this system, it is estimated by Mr. Smith that the sewage of Glendale and all surrounding communities will by this arrangement be taken care of for all time to come.

Mrs. M. B. Buckman, a member of the executive committee at the conclusion of Mr. Smith's remarks before the Foothill Improvement association rose and stated that she was glad it had been made clear that the proposed bond issue provided for carrying the sewer from Aviation drive north along San Fernando road to the Burbank city line, as many residents of the northwest section of Glendale had been laboring under the impression they were to have no sewer.

Description of Sewer

The following description of the proposed Glendale sewer system is given by the firm of Burns & McDonnell, noted sewer engineers:

The accompanying map shows the nine proposed intercepting lines or mains which are planned to bring the sanitary sewer system within reach of every home in the city of Glendale. The heavy lines shown on the map and marked "Main No. 1," etc., indicates the location and size of the mains to serve the city.

Main No. 1—Varies from 8-inch to 12-inch in diameter and connects with the main outfall sewer at Tyburn avenue and Hollydale drive, and follows Tyburn avenue to Gardena avenue, thence to Los Feliz road, thence on Los Feliz road to San Fernando, thence on San Fernando to Magnolia.

Main No. 2—Varies from 8-inch to 18-inch in diameter and connects with the main outfall sewer at Parkdale avenue and west of San Fernando road and follows Parkdale to San Fernando, thence on San Fernando to Palmer, thence on Palmer to Glendale avenue, thence on Glendale avenue to Elk avenue.

Main No. 2-A—Varies from 8-inch to 12-inch in diameter and connects with Main No. 2 at Los Angeles street and Parkdale and follows Los Angeles street to San Fernando road, thence on San Fernando road to Elk avenue.

Main No. 3.—Varies in size from 8-inch to 15-inch in diameter and connects with Main No. 2 at Palmer and Glendale avenue. This main follows Palmer avenue, Adams, Acacia and Verdugo road to Colorado street.

Main No. 4—Varies from 8-inch to 22-inch in diameter and connects with the main outfall sewer on Colorado and west of San Fernando road. This line follows Colorado, Glendale, Harvard, Sycamore Canyon road and Sierra avenue to Scholl drive near the head of Scholl canyon. This main will take care of the principal commercial district of Glendale.

Main No. 5—Varies in diameter from 8-inch to 15-inch and connects with Main No. 4. This line follows San Fernando road, Salem and Chester to Patterson avenue.

Main No. 6—Varies from 8-inch to 24-inch in diameter and connects with the main outfall sewer at Aviation drive and west of San Fernando. This line follows Aviation drive to San Fernando, thence on San Fernando to the northwest city limits of Glendale.

Main No. 7—Varies from 12-inch to 18-inch in diameter and connects with Main No. 6 on San Fernando road. This line follows along Palm drive and Dryden street until it comes to the point on Verdugo road where it will connect with the present sewer system which is already constructed in Verdugo canyon but has no outlet.

Main No. 8—Varies from 8-inch to 12-inch and connects with Main No. 6 at San Fernando and Grand View. This line follows Grand View to Glenwood road, thence on Glenwood road to Virginia avenue.

These nine mains listed above connect with the main outfall sewer which follows approximately the line of the Los Angeles river to Sixth and Utah where it connects with the outfall sewer of the city of Los Angeles, a distance of approximately ten miles. The cost of construction of the nine mains in Glendale is $277,966 and the cost of the main outfall sewer is estimated at $1,250,000.

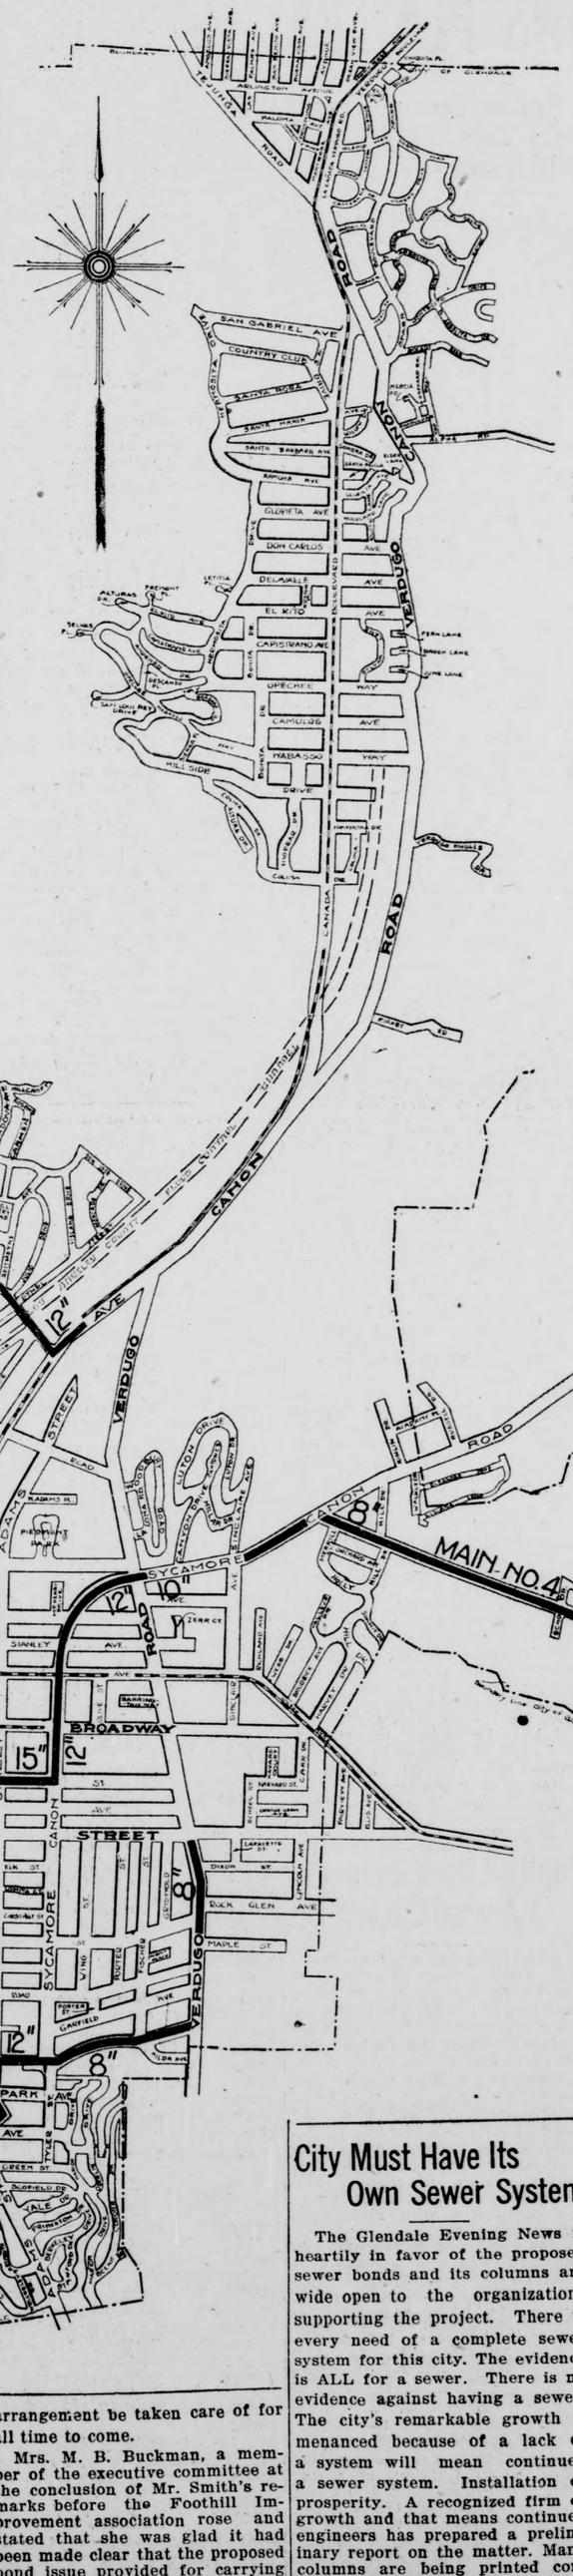
Exact location of the main trunk line and nine intercepting lines of Glendale's proposed sewer system are shown below in the map of the city, prepared by Burns & McDonnell, sewer experts of Los Angeles and Kansas City, who are making the preliminary survey.



NEED HARD WORK IN BOND ELECTION

Resolutions Won't Pass Issue, Is Warning Given By Councilman Davis

By RALPH A. LYND
Member of The Evening News Staff.

"You can't win elections by eating at banquets nor by passing resolutions. You have got to get out and gather in the voters that are working at their duties in their homes, in the backyards, and elsewhere, and you've got to lean over the backyard fences and get in your work for the sewer bonds before you can get the people out to vote."

So declared Councilman Sam Davis in a speech before the members of the Glendale Realty board at a recent luncheon in the Glendale Tavern. Davis quoted in detail from the figures he has compiled from official sources, showing that Glendale, in the event of annexation to Los Angeles, would be compelled to assume its share of the bonds that Los Angeles has issued amounting to $71,155,550, or $35.81 per capita, as against the assumption of $26.67 per capita that would be assessed in the event that the city of Glendale builds its own sewers through the bond issue of $1,600,000. These figures are based on an estimated population of 60,000 people in Glendale by the time the sewers are completed.

Mr. Davis quoted from a copy of the minutes of the Los Angeles City Council of November 15 and of November 17, showing, by direct answers to persons here who favor consolidation, that, in the event of annexation, Glendale would have to float bonds to pay for whatever sewers would be necessary and to bear the cost of connecting with the outfall sewer, or that it would have to form a local bond district and assess such district or issue bonds to build sewers in the business section of the city. "And even then, the minutes state that it would be at least twelve months after annexation had been decided upon before such a sewer system could be installed," Mr. Davis declared.

Will Boost Value

"It would pay the people of Glendale to build these sewers if they never ran a drop of water down them," asserted Mr. Davis. "The sight of constructive work being done in the streets of the city would be the greatest inducement to newcomers to settle here that could be devised, and the advance in property values would more than take care of the cost of the entire system."

In introducing the men who were to speak on the sewer proposition President Peter Hanson paid a tribute to Mayor Spencer Robinson and the members of the council who have worked so hard to secure the contract between Glendale and Los Angeles, pledging the support of the Glendale Realty board to pass the bonds at the coming election.

Declaring that Glendale will have a population of 50,000 people by the first of 1924, Manager W. H. Reeves stated that during the past year, $101,650 had been expended in Glendale to build 2033 cesspools, money which, he he asserted, had been practically wasted. And septic tanks that were built cost an immense amount in addition to the cost of the cesspools, he declared.

Praises Agreement

"The sewer system as planned now, will be big enough to take care of Glendale for the next fifty years, Mr. Reeves asserted, "and if this city is annexed to Los Angeles the system will cost double what it will cost if built from the proceeds of our own bond issue. The agreement Glendale has made with Los Angeles gives us what we want, and we should go ahead and pass these bonds by a sweeping majority."

Chester A. Smith, representing Burns & McDonnell, the engineers who have made the survey and drawn the plans for the sewer system, showed on his maps just where the various mains and lateral sewers would run, stating that the sewers had been planned on a basis that would take care of the requirements of the entire San Fernando valley up to a population of 1,000,000 people.

In answer to a question Mr Smith stated that Burbank could not connect with the sewer system as planned at this time without first being annexed to Los Angeles, as the contract provides that only such territory as now is included in Los Angeles or that may later be annexed to it can discharge its sewage into this sewer, and it cannot hook on to Glendale's sewer without paying for that privilege and in the event of its annexation to Los Angeles, also paying its share of the cost of the sewer connection through Los Angeles to the ocean.

City Must Have Its Own Sewer System

The Glendale Evening News is heartily in favor of the proposed sewer bonds and its columns are wide open to the organizations supporting the project. There is every need of a complete sewer system for this city. The evidence is ALL for a sewer. There is no evidence against having a sewer. The city's remarkable growth is menanced because of a lack of a system will mean continued a sewer system. Installation of prosperity. A recognized firm of growth and that means continued engineers has prepared a preliminary report on the matter. Many columns are being printed concerning the project. The election will be held on January 8, 1924. Let's tell the world Glendale is unanimous for a complete sewer system.

NOTICE OF SALE OF STREET RAILWAY FRANCHISE

Office of the City Clerk of the City of Glendale, California.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that an application has been made to the Council of the City of Glendale for a certain franchise granting the right to construct, operate, maintain a single track electric street railway, together with the right to construct the necessary curves, turn-outs, switches, spur tracks, poles and equipment, for the purpose of transporting passengers, baggage, United States mail, freight, express matter, and such other commodities as can be conveniently handled by an electric railway over and along certain streets in the City of Glendale hereinafter described, for a period of twenty-five (25) years in accordance with the conditions set forth by the laws of the State of California, the charter of the City of Glendale, and all ordinances of the City of Glendale regulating the granting of franchises.

It is hereby proposed by said Council of the City of Glendale to offer for sale, and to grant to the highest bidder, the said franchise upon the terms and conditions herein contained. The said franchise is described as follows, to-wit:

A franchise to construct, operate and maintain a single track electric street railway, together with the right to construct the necessary purpose of transporting passengers, baggage, United States mail, freight, express matter, and such other commodities as can be conveniently handled by an electric railway over and along a line six and one-half (6½) feet easterly from and parallel to the center line of that certain tract of land described as follows:

A strip of land thirty feet wide, being that portion of the Teodoro Verdugo and Catalina Verdugo 2629.10 acre allotment in the portion of the Rancho San Rafael, as per District Court Case No. 1621, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, bounded as follows:

Beginning at a point 87 degrees, 57 minutes E 30.06 feet along the easterly prolongation of the southerly line of Lot 1, Block 38, of Selvas de Verdugo, Sheets 11 and 12, as shown on Map recorded in Book 54, pages 88 and 89 of Maps, Records of said County, from the southeast corner of said Lot 1, Block 38; thence N. 1 degree 24 minutes W 752.10 feet, along a line which is parallel with and thirty feet easterly from the easterly lines of Blocks 38, 37 and 36, of said Selvas de Verdugo to the beginning of a curve, concave to the east, and having a radius of 521.50 feet; thence northerly along said curve, which is tangent to the last mentioned course, a distance of 218.14 feet to the end of said curve; thence N. 22 deg. 34 min. E. tangent to said curve, a distance of 703.69 feet, to the beginning of a curve, concave to the west, and having a radius of 588.80 feet; thence northerly along said last mentioned curve, which is tangent to the last mentioned course, a distance of 135.64 feet, to a point of compound curve, a radial line at said last mentioned point bearing N 80 deg., 32 min. 56 sec. W; thence southerly along a curve, concave to the west, having a radius of 618.80 feet, and tangent to the last described curve, a distance of 141.66 feet to the end of said last mentioned curve; thence S 22 deg., 34 min. W, tangent to said last mentioned curve, a distance of 703.69 feet to the beginning of a curve, concave to the east, and having a radius of 491.50 feet; thence southerly along said last mentioned curve which is tangent to the last mentioned course, a distance of 205.59 feet to the end of said last mentioned curve, and being a point in a line which is parallel with and thirty feet westerly from the westerly lines of Blocks 34, 33 and 32 of the aforesaid Selvas de Verdugo; thence S 1 deg., 24 min. E along said last mentioned parallel line, which is tangent to the last described curve, a distance of 753.90 feet to the westerly prolongation of the southerly line of said Block 32; thence N 87 deg., 57 min. W 30.06 feet to the point of beginning, for a term of twenty-five (25) years; provided that no spur track into private property shall be built within one thousand (1000) feet of any spur track already constructed under said franchise without first securing the proper consent of the Council of the City of Glendale.

The terms and conditions upon which said franchise will be offered for sale are the following:

That the railway to be constructed and operated under said franchise shall be used for the transportation of passengers, baggage, United States mail, freight, express matter, and such other commodities as can be conveniently handled by an electric railway; provided that cars other than closed cars, of a neat and attractive design, shall only be conveyed over said road between the hours of nine o'clock P. M. of each day and six o'clock A. M. of the following day; except hauling such material as is used in the construction and reconstruction of such railways.

That the said grantee of said franchise and its assigns, shall use good material in the construction of said road, and said road shall be built in a good and workmanlike manner, and that said grantee and its assigns shall, at its or their own cost and expense, oil and re-oil, pave or macadamize, the said road between the rails, between the tracks, and for two (2) feet on each side thereof, with the same material used by the City, and under the same specifications and in the same manner as upon the streets over which said roads are respectively, and shall keep the same constantly so paved or macadamized and in repair flush with said streets, and provided with suitable crossings, and shall make the roadbed conform at all times to the established grade of said streets; provided, however, that where any of the above named streets have been graded or otherwise improved prior to the granting of said franchise, said roadbed and rails shall conform to and be flush with the surface of said graded or otherwise improved street or streets, whether such surface be above or below the official grade of said street or streets, and on all other street or streets the said roadbed and rails shall conform to such official grade as aforesaid.

In case the said grantee and its assigns shall fail to comply with the instructions given for said repairs for ten days after service of notice thereof upon the superintendent or manager of said grantee, then the City Council of the City of Glendale may, with suitable assistance, enter upon said railway, or any portion thereof, and do the work and furnish the proper material, and keep an itemized account of the cost thereof, which said grantee and its assigns by the acceptance of this franchise agrees to pay immediately to the Treasurer of the City of Glendale upon the presentation of the account to the superintendent or manager of said railway.

Provided further, that cars shall be run over the road constructed under said franchise every day unless prevented by elements, riots, strikes or unavoidable causes; provided, also, that cars shall be run over and upon said road at intervals of not more than one (1) hour from seven o'clock A. M. until ten (10) o'clock P. M. of each day, and as much oftener as may be necessary to properly accommodate all persons who apply for transportation over said road, except in times of extraordinary and unforeseen amounts of travel; and provided that the City Council may authorize a less number of trips if the amount of travel does not warrant the above number of trips; and provided further, that said grantee and its assigns shall have the right to excavate and remove portions of said streets necessary to properly construct said road, and to erect needful apparatus, boilers, engines and other appliances to properly equip and run said road; provided further, that the City of Glendale in granting said franchise expressly reserves the right to pave, macadamize, renew or sewer any of said streets, or to lay gas, water or other pipes therein, said work to be done so as to injure said road as little as possible.

It is further provided that said grantee and its assigns shall construct all necessary flumes and culverts for the free passage of water under the tracks of said railway whenever and wherever necessary, and that all of such flumes and culverts shall be constructed in accordance with the plans and specifications approved by the City Engineer and wherever required by said City of Glendale.

That the said grantee and its assigns shall and will, at all times upon and after the completion of said road, during the operation of the same, and without extra charge, issue and receive from passengers going in one direction, transfers good for one continuous passage over and upon any and every other line and lines or any other road or roads to any points within the said City, which said grantee and its assigns does now or may hereafter own, control, operate or have a controlling interest in; and provided, as a further condition, that said grantee, and its assigns, shall and will at all times as aforesaid issue or cause to be issued to said passengers without extra charge, a similar transfer from any and every line or lines which said grantee and its assigns does now or may hereafter own, control, operate or have a controlling interest in, within said City of Glendale, as aforesaid, to, over and upon the road operated and maintained under said franchise within the city limits of the City of Glendale; and provided further, that such transfers shall be given and received as above provided over and upon all such roads within the city limts of the City of Glendale, whether operated under a franchise granted by said City or over and upon private right of ways owned or occupied by said roads within the City limits of the City of Glendale.

That the rates of fare to be charged by the grantee shall not exceed the rates fixed by the Body, Board or Commission having authority to fix such rates.

The said grantee and its assigns shall carry free on said cars the Chief of Police and all regular police officers and firemen of said City, when on duty, and letter carriers, subject at all times to the rules of the road.

That the said grantee and its assigns shall, during the life of the said franchise, pay to the City of Glendale in lawful money of the United States, two per cent of the gross annual receipts of said grantee and its assigns, arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise. No percentage shall be paid for the first five years succeeding the date of the franchise, but thereafter such percentage shall be payable annually, and said franchise is to be forfeited by a failure to make the payments provided for, and it shall be the duty of the grantee of said franchise and its assigns to file with the City Clerk of the City of Glendale at the expiration

A WORD TO THE WISE

If you are sincerely wanting a home at the right price, investigate this proposition, for it is one of those rare instances when the owner must sell immediately (leaving the city for business reasons), and is offering a great sacrifice.
The lot is worth $4000 conservatively. The house, consisting of 6 rooms with 3 bedrooms, modern, all built-in effects, etc., could not be built for $6000.

G. A. R. AND W. R. C. IN JOINT EVENT

Mrs. Mary Bennett Is Elected President of Women's Relief Corps

The joint meeting of the G. A. R. post and the Women's Relief Corps yesterday, in the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue, was filled with interesting events, and the day proved a most enjoyable Christmas week celebration.

In the morning the G. A. R. members held their regular meeting, and during the noon hour a chicken pie dinner was served, honoring Charles Bock of Eagle Rock, 94 years of age; Comrade Jones, who recently celebrated his birthday, and Mrs. Ziloha A. Parker, the oldest member of the W. R. C.

These three were given places of honor at the dinner table and further honored with a beautiful birthday cake.

President Chosen

Mrs. Mary Bennett was unanimously chosen president of the corps, to succeed Mrs. Jennie Tincher, who was elected, but found it impossible to serve. Mrs. Bennett and other officers are to be installed at the meeting the second Friday in January.

Another feature of the meeting was the return of the post flag. The flag, which is over eleven years old, had become ragged and worn from use, and Mrs. Flora Pixley, assisted by Mrs. Julina Hayes, mended the flag so that it will last for several years to come. Material for mending the flag was given by Mrs. Ella Richardson.

Among the visitors at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Carlin of Long Beach. Mrs. Carlin is a past department president.

That's All

Ten Million In Building
Record Of Our Prosperity
Business Will Be Better
Two Parades Worth Seeing

By Gil A. Cowan

Three cheers and a tiger! Glendale has gone over the ten million dollar mark in building this year—a grand finale, as it were!

Ten million dollars in new construction represents an investment of $200 per capita on an estimated population of 50,000. Last year it was much less than that, which goes to prove that—

Glendale is getting better and better, but the best is yet to come.

The achievements of 1923 are worthy of pride, but the program for 1924 should be made greater. The Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations should bend every effort to make the coming twelve months "Greater Glendale's Greatest Year."

And we know President W. E. Hewitt and his board of directors and Secretary E. F. Sanders and his loyal assistants are going to boost just like that, too, for Glendale has to lead the procession. And the Chamber of Commerce is the bandwagon that makes the noise.

Glendale will close its books in building with more records broken, more heavy construction done, more huge piles in the way of sanitarium, mercantile, school and church edifices to its credit than ever before in history. It is an achievement in city building of which we may all be proud.

And all of this story of Glendale's growth and prosperity is going to be told in the great New Year's number of The Glendale Evening News.

The compilation of copy which has been going on for days in the editorial department is a revelation even to the staid news writers who glory in the opportunity of chronicling the events of "the fastest growing city in America."

It has been the privilege of the writer to aid in the assembling of several recapitulations of Glendale's business growth and it is gratifying.

Never was there a metropolis, we believe, built with such soundness and rapidity as Glendale during the last five years. The increase in population from 10,000 to 50,000 has been amazing, but the business development here is almost beyond human comprehension.

To a large extent the growth of Glendale is the same as that of all Southern California, except more so. And the next year will see even greater things, we can safely say.

So it is a pleasant probability for each and every one of us that BUSINESS WILL BE BETTER. That is something to look forward to. Looking forward, however, we must stop and consider the things which Glendale needs.

First and paramount is a sewer system. Therefore, no effort should be spared in making 100 per cent unanimous the approval for the $1,600,000 bond issue to be voted on at the polls January 8.

Other things will then come in due course, once the sanitary problem of the city is solved.

Our friend Lloyd H. Myers, who served with the writer in the army secret service working out of Washington, D. C., is chairman of the Glendale Realty board's committee arranging for the "Ten Million Dollar" parade in Glendale on January 5.

"Lloyd" is a very competent young man, even if he has grayed prematurely. "Bill" Twining, his partner, says so. And we concur.

The parade should be a great success, particularly if "Cam" Thom is drum major and "Pete" Hanson blows the clarion trumpet.

Mayor Spencer Robinson, being a real estate man, might favor the onlookers with a solo, too.

Speaking of parades reminds us that L. W. Chobe, and Mrs. Chobe, and other good people, are working hard these days preparing Glendale's entry in the Tournament of Roses New Year's day.

It is going to be some float—we'll say in advance. And if it doesn't win first prize, well—

Comments will be caustic on January 2.

Which isn't the way we like to write 'em.

Looking over our collection of Christmas cards from friends good and true we note one from Principal and Mrs. George U. Moyse of Glendale Union High school. It was addressed to Mr. and MRS. Gil A. Cowan.

Now, George, what under the sun ever gave you the idea that the writer of this "cantankerous literature" was, is or may be a married man.

We'll admit that single blessedness is no particular desire on our part, but the kind of sweet girl graduates your school is turning out go away to college or university and capture some "frat" man, not a fat man, (pleasingly plump, if you please), and live happily ever after in a two by two apartment, or a three by four bungalow.

And all we have is a vacant lot, some shattered aircastles, or whatever you call love's young dreams, a bank account and a runabout.

Yes, we have no babycabs today!

TUBES INSTALLED

Pneumatic tubes will be installed to carry messages between the central telegrapa office in Rio de Janeiro and outlying offices.

HAPPINESS CLUB MEMBERS GUESTS

Newport Co. Sales Force Entertains at Party for 'Millionaires'

Among the Christmas holiday parties in the Verdugo hills was the banquet given by the sales force of the F. P. Newport company in honor of Millionaires of Happiness and Contentment club of Tujunga. The annual affair was held at the old adobe ranch house of the Verdugo family in Verdugo Woodlands. Among the famous members of this club present were Socrates, "the man who plays the flute," "man who has the phonograph," the "postmaster," the "lady who makes the lemon pies" and the "lady who lives in the little stone house." They are all characters of John Steven McGroarty's stories of the Green Verdugo hills, and are neighbors of his in Tujunga.

Following the banquet the guests adjourned to house number 5, as it is called, where they were greeted by Santa Claus, who presented them with gifts from a big tree. M. V. Hartranft of Tujunga spoke and said that the old adobe building in which the banquet was held occupies an important place in the history of California as the place where forces of the Mexican government made one of the last stands. Mr. Hartranft also spoke of the plan to form a Mission Playhouse Foundation, calling attention to the historic value of the Mission Play in impressing upon the thousands of tourists who see it the romance of the development of California.

Wilmot Parcher, president of the Millionaires of Happiness club, distributed copies of his story, "Uncle John's Christmas Story." Each member was presented with a box of cigars by the hosts.

Mail Men Praised

If anyone has any doubts as to how well Tujunga people were remembered this Christmas by Santa Claus, said doubts can be dispelled by a short talk with the mail carrier who serves the community. Each day for a week before Christmas an extra trip was made to Los Angeles to bring bags of mail and parcel post packages. Sunday, two days before Christmas, the carrier made a special trip and brought out thirty-eight bags, and the postmaster and assistant spent the afternoon distributing it in order that no congestion or delay would result.

The extra service was without pay, and the carrier did it voluntarily. No accumulation of undelivered bundles resulted at the Los Angeles postoffice for Tujunga, at least.

A feature of the service given patrons of the Tujunga postoffice since it was moved to the new quarters in the Breidt building, on Sunset boulevard, is the sorting of outgoing mail according to destination, eliminating a second handling at the Los Angeles office and saving, in many cases, a whole day in the time of delivery.

Fourteen family boxes and twelve boxes of toys were distributed by the Parent-Teacher association and the American Legion, Post 250, assisted by A. C. Stover of the Tujunga Drug store, this year.

Chinese Masquerade

A prize will be given for the most realistic Chinese makeup at the dance to be given at Legion hall by the members of the post and auxiliary New Year's eve. This will be a Chinese masque, and rice, chop suey, rice cakes and tea will be served.

A New Year's sermon was delivered by Rev. J. U. Stotts at the Tujunga Community church Sunday evening. There was communion service and reception to new members at the morning service. A special program was arranged by the Christian Endeavor society for the regular hour.

Sales Tax Payments Are Due December 31

Warning was issued yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell to thousands of sales taxpayers in southern California that their returns and payments of tax for November must be in his office or in the hands of his deputies in branch offices on or before December 31, to avoid penalties of 25 per cent and 5 per cent, and a specific penalty of $1000. This class of taxpayers includes manufacturers of automobiles and parts and accessories, candy, and all other persons manufacturing taxable articles! theatres, country clubs, jewelers, manufacturers of syrups, soft drinks and carbonic acid gas, ticket brokers and telephone and telegraph companies.

"These penalties," said Collector Goodcell, "are not at my option or pleasure, but are imposed by law. It is my desire to collect taxes—not penalties—and, for that reason, I urge all such taxpayers to make their returns and payments within the time prescribed by law. If they don't, I cannot avoid assessing penalties."

Collector Goodcell also called attention to the necessity of the return and payment being in his hands before the close of business on December 31. Merely placing the remittance in the mails on or before the last day of the month will not prevent penalties.

SUSPECT IS HELD

A man believed to be either Theodore or Ned Roberts was arrested at 3:30 this morning on San Fernando road by Lieut. Nunn and Officer Hedrick. He is being held at headquarters for investigation.

Pasadena to Commemorate Its Fiftieth Anniversary Offers Colorful Pageant

This New Year's Tournament of Roses at Pasadena presents a novel division in its historical float pageant, commemorating that city's fiftieth anniversary. The plan originated with Miss Sybil Eliza Jones, playwright-producer who directed the pageant from its inception, ably assisted by Charles L. Craig, chairman of the Parades and Pageants Committee of the 1924 general committees, and Egbert Pettey, art director.

Co-operation of public-spirited organizations, clubs and individuals furnishes the twenty-four units in this division, depicting three historical perods. Floats of the past represent important events in the making of Pasadena; the present shows the spirit that animates Pasadena of today, and the future tells of the eternal youth that marches on to greater achievement...

The arrangement is as follows:

Parade at 10:30 a. m.

Navy-University of Washington football teams at Rose Bowl, 2:15 p. m.

Parade moves from point of formation, Colorado street and South Orange Grove avenue, proceeding east on Colorado to Hill avenue, north on Hill avenue to East Orange Grove avenue, thence on East Orange Grove to the area of disbanding, between Lake and Los Robles avenues.

Ample police supervision over the streets leading to various points along the line of parade has been assured. Autoists going to Pasadena are urged to follow police instructions without argument, in order to avoid congestion of the main arteries leading to the parade line. Observe signs reading "No Parking." Parking is allowed on all streets not so signed.

There are twenty-one classes for parade entries, divided into seven divisions. Sweepstakes cups are offered for the two most beautiful entries in the line. Besides, there are cups, trophies and banners, the sterling prizes numbering sixty-one.

There will be twenty-five bands and other musical bodies marching.

There is no entertainment feature planned at the bowl except the football game. A loud speaker in the Rose Bowl, just installed by the city of Pasadena, will announce each play as made.

In the press box personal representatives of some 4,000 newspapers, including twenty-six leased wires and six Western Union circuits, will send out bulletins, play to play.

MONTROSE

COMMUNITY SING PLANS ARE LAID

Glendale Man Appointed To Act as Song Leader of Montrose Singers

A business meeting was called by Mrs. Hopkins, president of the Montrose Community Sing, at her home last evening. The purpose of the meeting was to get wide-awake interested people together, to perfect plans whereby the weekly sing could be definitely established.

Mrs. Hopkins read a letter from Alexander Stuart of Los Angeles in regard to employing well-known leaders. It was decided, however, that these very efficient people ask such large compensation for their services, as to be entirely out of reach at present.

Mr. Prosper, of Glendale, who is not only an experienced musician, but a good organizer, very kindly donated his services as leader for the time being.

It was decided to hold the sing every Thursday night and to have new programs and ideas presented each evening. At Thomas Brown's suggestion Mrs. Hopkins will make arrangements to secure the La Crescenta school auditorium at least one night a month, and hold the sing there, to encourage a feeling of friendliness and community spirit. The name, too, will be changed to something entirely apart from Montrose or La Crescenta, so there can be no dissension on this point.

It is expected to hold the La Crescenta night on the third Thursday as that date will not conflict with any on the present program.

Meet in Schoolhouse

The first, second and fourth Thursdays the meeting will be in the Montrose schoolhouse and Mrs. Hopkins will loan her piano for the first night. It is hoped the trustees will presently furnish one for Montrose schoolhouse. Mr. Wyble of Glendale, who owns a quantity of acreage in La Crescenta, was appointed chairman of the entertainment and publicity committees. Mr. Prosper will be chairman of the program committee. Song books will be provided for all, young and old alike, and a cordial welcome awaits all who come next Thursday night to the Montrose schoolhouse.

Those meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins were Miss Edwards and Mr. Wyble, Mr. and Mrs. Prosper of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown and Mrs. Mary B. Darrow of La Crescenta, Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. Witmer of Montrose. Coffee and cake were served after the business meeting was over. It was regretted that all who had been asked were unable to attend.

As the Dance of the Nations' costume dance to be given by the La Crescenta Improvement society is for the benefit of the fire department a cordial invitation is extended to all residents of the valley to attend and help the fund tonight at La Crescenta school auditorium. A fine turkey is the prize to be carried off by the best national costume. Come and bring all your friends.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS PICNIC AT PARK

Holiday Outing of Group Is Featured By Outdoor Cooking of Dinner

The Osoho group of Campfire Girls, recently organized by Mrs. R. W. Spilsbury, enjoyed a trip to Griffith park during the holiday week, where they cooked dinner over the open fire and had a campfire program. Elizabeth Dillington was initiated to the rank of woodgatherer, the first rank to be attained by new members. Members of the party were: Elizabeth Dillington, Margaret Dampf, Gladys Gould, Kathleen Morrison, Mary Leeta Foulks, Margery Osborne, Audry Phillips, Hazel and Veda Spilsbury and the guardian, Mrs. R. W. Spilsbury.

The Weewonah group met with the guardian, Mrs. Spilsbury, on Thursday of this week and are dressing dolls for the children's hospital and making a quilt for a charitable purpose. During Christmas eve this group was out with their guardian, singing Christmas carols beneath the windows of many homes in the southern part of the city. Food and Christmas gifts, given by the girls to a worthy family in the city, was one of the charitable acts of the organization.

Mrs. Spilsbury is expecting to have an assistant guardian appointed very shortly to take charge of the newly organized younger group of girls. An event in which they are greatly interested at present is the coming visit of the national executive to Los Angeles, which is anticipated in January.

GIVE DINNER TO GRAAS EMPLOYES

Glendale and Los Angeles Stores' Personnel Are Entertained

The C. F. Graas company, 212 West Broadway, entertained the employes of both their Los Angeles and Glendale stores at a turkey dinner at Jensen's Egyptian Village last night. Talks were made by all the boys present which will prove beneficial to all. A very prosperous year was reported by Mr. Graas and he looks to a banner year in 1924.

After the dinner bowling and billiards were enjoyed, and upon leaving, a vote of thanks was expressed by the employes and their support and cooperation pledged for the coming year.

Those present were W. T. Sherman, C. M. Ewers, R. C. Downs, Foster Madriaga, C. A. Lang and C. F. Graas of the Glendale store, and F. H. Graas, W. G. Graas, C. O. Nichols, W. C. Stemler, Wilbur Garner, Carl Chase, Forrest Dedrick, Jack James and George Graas of the Los Angeles store. Edwin Jaeger, manager of Wm. Volker company, was guest of honor and favored the boys with an interesting talk.

Musical Comedy Will Stress Spanish Note

A lively musical comedy, entitled "In Hot Tamale Land," will be the next production of the Glendale Community Players. It is a colorful, peppy, dancy comedy, with a picturesque Spanish atmosphere. Rehearsals will start next Wednesday night, January 2, at the Players' club hall, 1428 South San Fernando road, at 7:30 sharp. Speaking parts will be allotted, girls and young men will be assigned to three dancing groups for the chorus and ballets, and specialties will be arranged. Glendale remembers the musical comedy produced by the Players last May, when the "Fun Revue" ran for three big nights. "In Hot Tamale Land" promises to be even bigger, better and more beautiful.

Mrs. Nanno Woods, director, will be assisted by Edna Graham, who has just completed five years of successful stage work in Chicago and New York, and who will train the dancing and ballet numbers. Many young men and women will be needed as singers and dancers, and all will receive careful training. Apply at once to Mrs. Woods, Glendale 394; Mrs. Bradley, 131½ South Brand, or punctually at 7:30 on the night of the first rehearsal.

Rehearesal on Wednesday will be followed by a balloon dance beginning at 9 o'clock, with music furnished by a seven-piece orchestra.

Four Boys Held When Rifle Is Discharged

Fred Fram, 1248 Stanley avenue; John Needham, 1245 East Wilson avenue; Harry Bastwick, 1217 East Wilson avenue, and Burton Heinmiller, 1224 East Broadway, all under 16 years of age, were brought into police headquarters yesterday afternoon by Officer F. A. Nipping of the Wilshire division and Motor Officer G. E. Allen of the Central station of Los Angeles.

The officers stated that as they proceeded through the city in a car, the boys discharged a .22 calibre rifle, which narrowly missed hitting them.

The boys were released to appear later, and two rifles were kept at the station.

PETITIONERS TO ASK ANNEXATION

Residents of Tract Adjacent To Glendale Planning To Call Election

Notice was served on the city council at a special meeting held this morning at 8:30, by eight residents of Los Angeles county, that it is their intention to circulate, within thirty days, a petition asking for an election to determine whether or not a tract now in the county should be annexed to the city of Glendale.

The tract in question comprises about 600 acres, situated south and west of the Southern Pacific railroad tracks, between the present city limits of Glendale and Burbank. It extends from the railroad company's property on the east to the Los Angeles river on the west, and contains some of the most desirable residential property in the county. At the present time it is largely in bearing orchard.

Notify Authorities

After the filing of the notice with City Clerk A. J. Van Wie, it will be necessary to send notices to the county and adjacent municipal authorities regarding the intention of the residents.

It is understood that the sentiment of a large majority of the voters of the district favors annexation to Glendale, and it is anticipated that no trouble will be experienced in gaining the requisite number of signers to the petition asking for the election. It is now incumbent upon the residents of that sector to circulate the petition and present it to the proper authorities.

The notice served on the city council this morning was signed by J. J. Schnoor, Emma M. Schnoor, Gladys B. Schnoor, W. L. Russel, Hettie H. Russel, B. J. Rummell, Stella J. Rummell and William L. Copeland.

COMPETITION BY CLUBS ALLEGED

Method of Handling License Plates Stirs Insurance Men to Protest

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29.—The California Association of Insurance Agents and the Insurance Brokers' Exchange of San Francisco have filed a protest with Governor Richardson against the action of Will H. Marsh, state motor vehicle superintendent, in distributing automobile license plates through the automobile clubs.

"We believe our general tax, gas tax and increased fees should take care of this public service without turning over to privately controlled organizations any part of the machinery of the state government," the telegram stated. Continuing, the protest follows:

Unfair Competition

"Automobile clubs are competing on an unfair basis with legitimate insurance interests and 20,000 agents and brokers for whom we speak, also numerous others engaged in the insurance business, would be injuriously affected by the proposed discriminatory scheme for the distribution of license tags. We respectfully urge you to make an independent investigation and take whatever steps seem proper to prevent consummation of the plan referred to."

Governor Richardson announced he would turn the protest over to the motor vehicle department.

RENEW SIGN POSTS IN 2 COUNTIES

Imperial and San Diego Roads Covered by Crews of Automobile Club

Work is just being completed in the renewal of signposts and marking new points in San Diego and Imperial counties, by the sign-posting department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Crews and trucks have been in the field for the past eight weeks and all necessary signs and renewals have been placed in these counties.

This sign-posting in all parts of Southern California and on the transcontinental highways, is one of the most effective services to the motoring public that is performed by the club. Few persons realize the extent of this work and the immense amount of detail necessary in its completion. Almost every sign must bear a different legend, and when it is considered that there are thousands of signs in every county, the immensity of the task of sign-posting of all southern California may be realized.

Use Picked Crews

Picked crews from the auto club make semi-annual visits to the thirteen counties of southern California. The transcontinental highways are checked annually for new signs and renewals.

At the close of the present year the auto club will have placed 112,000 signs, each one of which bears a different and important message to the traveling autoist.

Plenty of Snow in Mountains to Enliven Holidays

A real old-fashioned winter is in sight for those who pine for holidays with snow accompaniment, according to reports received by the Automobile Club of Southern California. The recent storm spread a mantle of the beautiful in varying depths over the higher mountain stretches of Southern California. Altitudes of 5,000 feet and upward will present snow scenes of sparkling beauty to the visitor. Big Bear lake, Arrowhead lake, Forest Home, Hope Glen, Camp Baldy and the San Bernardino mountains generally report a snow that promises to hold over through the holidays.

Auto tourists are warned to carry skid chains in seeking the snow banks. Many winter pleasure parties to the mountains are marred through neglect of proper precautions on the part of drivers.

Full information regarding weather and road conditions is available without charge at the touring bureau of the auto club, or at its branch offices.

Driver, Afloat, Can Be Picked From Pedestrians By Queer Expression

Imagine a motorist out for a walk!

You ought to be able to pick him out of a mob of pedestrians. For he acts and looks as different from the regular run of walkers as does the automobile he drives from the horses it tries to run down.

What changed him so? The helter-skelter of traffic, whistles of traffic cops, playing children, crossing pedestrians — stopping street cars, scooting busses, night lights, weird signalling, elusive parking spaces, speed traps—and a thousand and one other annoyances.

Singular Expression

The result is he has developed a singular expression brought on by an entanglement of emotion, a psychological complex peculiar to auto driving. His features are drawn, taut, determined. His eyes are set and straining. Deep lines on either side of his mouth turn down. He is serious.

When he walks down the street, especially in the crowded sections, you will invariably find him looking far ahead, straining, watching, but still going full speed to a predetermined destination. His expression is immobile, yet his eyeballs move incessantly to right and left, as though he feared another motorist passing him.

People coming toward him he seeks to pass to the right, out of habit. By the same token, he speeds up and passes others going his way to the left. New motorists who haven't yet gotten out of their habit of walking, or the despised pedestrians he recognizes by their slipshod, undertermined manner of walking.

His is the essence of the jazz age, today.

Easy to Identify

And as he becomes more experienced as a driver, can flash in and out of a dense traffic line, without a scratch, can judge distance to within six inches, can beat a street car just as it is stopping, can get away with many a hair-raising stunt any sane driver would refrain from attempting, his face becomes more and more marked and he can be picked out of a crowd more easily.

Thus can taxi drivers, for instance, be identified by their nervous, yet carefree, expressions, haphazard appearance and shifting gait.

And, just as the man can be identified as a motorist or otherwise, so can the woman be placed in either category. Hers may be a trifle more difficult, because of the expression already imprinted on her features through the livelong habit of shopping. She still shops, whether walking or riding, so that there is conflict for su-

YOSEMITE IS BIG ASSET TO STATE

National Park Brings Huge Sum to California in Tourist Season

Yosemite National Park is estimated to have brought $500,000 within the state of California this year, which was expended within a radius of 200 miles of the park, in addition to approximately $2,500,000 expended in the park. Yosemite's greatest value to the state from an economic standpoint lies in the fact that its timbered watersheds provide extensive capacity for water storage outside the limits of the park, upon which both for power and irrigation California is more dependent for progress than of any other one thing.

With the mountains being denuded rapidly of forests all around the park its tremendous importance in this respect will become greater and greater as time goes on.

Save Large Sum

The Sequoia and General Grant national parks, California, which afford places to which the residents of the San Joaquin Valley may resort to escape the extreme of the summer, responsible for the wonderful fruit production of Southern California, are credited with having saved to the local communities some $800,000 which otherwise would have been spent in travel to other parts of California, the United States and abroad. It is also estimated about $200,000 is spent by visitors from outside the state to the big tree parks.

The number of visitors to the Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado, outside of the state is estimated at 65,000 people, their average stay in the state at ten days and their daily expenditure at $8 per day. This gives a total of $5,200,000 spent by visitors to the Rocky Mountains, to which may be added approximately $2,500,000 spent by residents of the state intravel to and recreation in the park.

Mesa Verde National Park in Southwestern Colorado is responsible for a considerable amount of travel and money coming into the state. It is estimated by civic organizations in Denver that rail and auto travelers left over $40,000,000 in Colorado during the past season.

Provides Prosperity

The upbuilding and prosperity of two modern thriving cities is directly responsible to national parks. They are Hot Springs National Park, Ark., and Sulphur, which adjoins Platt National Park, Okla.

The value of Grand Canyon National Park to the state of

Standard Oil Will Advance Gasoline Price Two Cents

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—The general offices here of the Standard Oil company (Indiana) announced yesterday afternoon that tank wagon prices for gasoline would be advanced today 2 cents a gallon in the eleven midwestern states served by the company. The price varies in different localities. In Chicago the new price will be 14 cents from tank wagons and 16 cents from service stations.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—Gasoline prices will not be boosted in Pacific states today, Standard Oil company officials said here. No advance in gasoline prices in the far west is contemplated, the officials asserted. Present prices here are 14 cents per gallon at filling stations, plus two cents state tax.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—The price of gasoline will not be advanced in southern California by the Standard Oil company, officials declared.

Use Proper Signal In Turning, Is Plea

Failure to signal properly before turning is the most common violation of the state motor vehicle act, and reckless driving ranks second, according to the vigilance committee reports just compiled by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

A total of 36,971 violations of the law have been reported, these being divided into twenty-three separate counts. This check included three counties in Southern California—Orange, San Diego and Los Angeles. The data at hand are sufficient to indicate that drivers are more careless regarding signals than any other phase of driving. Perpetual vigilance is recommended as the best guarantee of safety.

STOPS SQUEAKING

The spraying of water between the brake-lining surfaces will temporarily stop squeaking at this point.

TOURISTS IN 1923 TOTAL MILLION

Every Highway Pours Flood of Visitors Into State During Past Year

Almost 1,000,000 tourists will have arrived in California by automobile during 1923, according to the latest estimates available on interstate travel. This will be a gain of approximately 50 per cent over the figures of 1922, which at the time set a new standard. The total number of arrivals, according to the most recent checks made by the Automobile Club of Southern California, are 234,000 cars. The average number of persons in each vehicle has been raised materially during the past few years, until in 1923 the count showed four. This would bring the total to approximately 936,000.

The National Old Trails Highway leads all others in the number of arrivals with 7,710 cars in a single month. The Pacific Highway, which is the main entrance to the state from Oregon, Washington and Western Canada, showed a total of 6,572 cars in the month of August.

It is probable that every town in Southern California can trace a portion of its increase in population during the year to this unprecedented influx of motoring tourists.

Madrigal Club Calls Rehearsal on Monday

In anticipation of the annual concert in January, the Madrigal club is to meet at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Congregational church for rehearsal.

The board of directors of the club are called to a meeting at 2 o'clock on Wednesday at the home of the president, Mrs. Paul Hoffman, at 327 North Maryland avenue.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB HAS BIRTHDAY

Organization, With 46 Members in 1900, Now Boasts 93,000 on Rolls

Felicitations are pouring in from all parts of the country to the Automobile Club of Southern California, following the announcement that this great organization attained the dignified age of 23 years on December 13, last. A retrospective glance into the club's history indicates conclusively that, so far as it is concerned, there is no hoodoo connected with the 13th, nor any jinx tied to 23.

On every December 13 since the birthday in 1900 there has been a material expansion in the organization. In fact, during recent years the growth has been so remarkable as to arouse national comment and to bring the organization to first place, in membership, of all similar organizations in the world.

Has 93,000 Members

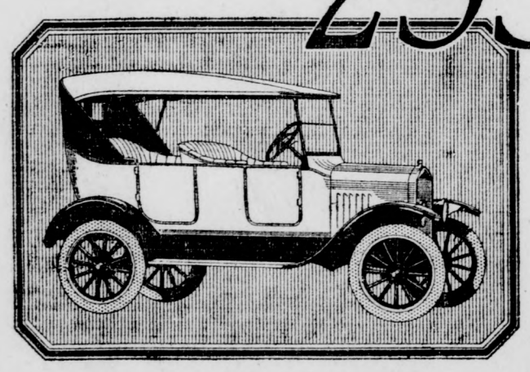
Starting with a social organization in 1900 with forty-six members, the club in a few years developed into a purely service body, and on its twenty-third birthday the membership approximated 93,000.

Although at the beginning the membership was confined to motorists of Los Angeles, the greater percentage of the 93,000 composing the organization today live outside of Los Angeles county, and are served largely through the twenty-nine branches of the organization, which are placed at strategic points throughout the thirteen southern counties.

From its modest beginning in the days when the motorist was regarded with apprehension and disfavor, the club has kept in the forefront with service to all persons owning and operating motor vehicles. Its activities are divided into twelve major departments and its powerful influence constantly is directed toward better highways in the state and nation.

In treating folks you ne'er can tell, some nurse their ills to keep them well.

The New Touring Car $295 F.O.B. DETROIT



A Striking Value—at $295

Considering the improved appearance of the new Ford Touring Car, one would naturally expect a proportionate advance in price.

Larger scale production, however, has made it possible to incorporate in this new type touring car a number of decided improvements without increasing its cost to the purchaser.

A comparison extending over a long period of years will reveal the fact that the present price is actually the lowest at which the five-passenger open car has ever been sold.

The Ford Touring Car stands today, as it always has, a most remarkable value in the motor car field.

DELAY PLAN FOR FIRE PROTECTION

Election Will Be Called to Decide If People Want County to Act

Definite steps toward organized fire protection for Tujunga and Sunland are being held up until an election can be called to settle the question of whether or not the people of these two districts want the county to form a fire district. This was made necessary as a result of the protest to the formation of such a district which was filed with the board of supervisors at their meeting in Los Angeles to pass on applications for fire protection districts from twenty-eight sections of unincorporated territory.

The protest was filed by Everett C. Carlson, who acted as chairman of a committee of citizens appointed at a mass meeting to discuss the proposed fire protection measure. At the special called meeting of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce several members deplored this protest, declaring that it is not fair to have the organization of this much-needed protection held up.

Want Information

Mr. Carlson explained that the protest was to get full information regarding the forming of such districts before the people in order that they might know what they were getting. He said that as chairman of the committee appointed last year by the Chamber of Commerce to work on fire protection he had written five letters to the county forestry department without getting a written reply and had made seventeen trips to the county seat seeking information on which he could make an intelligent report to the Chamber of Commerce, but without success. Mr. Carlson said he thinks it is about time the county authorities take the people into their confidence regarding plans for the Tujunga district and its administration. Ed Forster asked questions that were apparently born of the suspicion that the protest against the formation of a fire protection district is another move on behalf of incorporation.

Two special committees were appointed at the called meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to investigate all angles of the question. H. B. Lynch, L. C. Baker, H. H. Breidt, D. A. Johnston and T. C. Bludworth were appointed to get information regarding equipment, probable amount of tax and method of administration.

Harry Zachau, H. W. Huntington, H. B. Clafflin and J. W. Russell were appointed to draft a plan of organization of volunteers to fight fire until such time as adequate fire protection is furnished by the formation of a county fire district or other means and to get information on the cost of a siren or other efficient fire alarm. Appointment of these committees came only after a lengthy and spirited debate over the wisdom of the protest filed with the board of supervisors.

FORD DIES MADE IN RECORD TIME

Many Changes Effected in Original Design of Tudor Sedan

The die-making division of the Ford Motor Company set a remarkable record when within eight weeks it designed and manufactured a complete set of dies and tools necessary for the production of the new Tudor Sedan body. Five to six months would previously have been considered a standard speed for such an undertaking, according to word received by Jesse E. Smith, 125 West Colorado street, local Ford and Lincoln distributor.

Many changes were made by Ford engineers in the original design of curves and "sweeps" before the desired staunchness and beauty of appearance were secured and the final designs were turned over to the tool design department. In all 110 new dies and punches were required to produce the new Tudor Sedan bodies, which, like the other Ford car bodies, are made from pressed steel sections assembled to a hard wood and metal frame.

As master dies were completed they went to the mechanical-electric engraving machine, which has revolutionized die making and has done away with 80 per cent of the hand work, and these machines cut into steel exact replicas of the master dies.

Yosemite Is Big Asset to This State

Arizona in bringing travel money to the state is estimated at nearly $2,000,000 annually, and this amount is increasing steadily.

The realy great value of tourist travel to the entire West lies not in the money that visitors expend for daily living and amusement, but the information that is gained by them regarding the agricultural, commercial, mining and industrial opportunities of the West, and in this manner the national parks, in attracting tremendous travel to the West are playing a highly important part in the economic development of the Nation.

GOES 250 MILES TO DELIVER CAR

Smith-Sloan Man Makes Long Drive to Put Overland in Xmas 'Stocking'

That Glendale hasn't been forgotten by those whose business has taken them away from the city, was well demonstrated Christmas Eve when a long distance telephone call was received by Smith-Sloan's Wyllis-Knight-Overland agency, to send a car to Trona, in the Searle Lake mining district, some 260 miles northeast of this city. The call came from L. A. Blount, a former resident of Glendale, who urged George T. Smith, of the local agency, to send a new Overland touring De Luxe, and to get it there in time for him to present it to Mrs. Blount on Christmas morning.

The long drive over the desert and hills was started at 4 p. m. Monday, by Gerald Barton, employed by Smith-Sloan. Just eleven hours later, at 3 a. m., he arrived at the Blount mining camp and aroused them from sleep and made the delivery.

Mr. Barton remained at the camp all day Christmas, he said, leaving there at 9:30 o'clock that night, and arriving in Glendale the next morning at 8:30 o'clock. He reported an enjoyable Christmas, despite the long drive from home. It took exactly one quart of oil to make the trip, while the gasoline consumption averaged twenty-five and one-half miles to the gallon. While this is under the general average for this model of Overland, he said, it is considered a remarkable record for a new car.

Five other "Christmas cars" were delivered last Monday, Mr. Smith reported.

PRICE TREND IN 1924 IS UPWARD

Increases in Most Lines of Automobiles Predicted by Lyman Clark

"The trend of automobile prices during 1924 is going to be steadily upward," says Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell and Chalmers distributor, in a review of the motor car industry. "The bottom has been reached on practically all cars, and the action of several manufacturers in advancing their prices, in the face of advances in the prices of materials, is evidence of the fact that the dealers of the country are going to do business on a rising market in 1924, instead of on a falling one, as has been the case since 1920.

"The year 1923 has been the biggest in the history of the industry, more cars being made and sold than ever before in any one year. Manufacturers have been unable to accumulate a surplus of cars, and some of them are still behind on their deliveries, especially on closed models.

"During 1923 about 220,000 cars were junked in California alone, and new cars were bought to replace them. I look for this figure to reach to 250,000 in 1924, owing to the prosperous condition of southern California and the insistent demand of the people here for the latest thing in automobiles."

BUYING ON TIME SOUND BUSINESS

Rickenbacker Favors Smaller Payments Extended Over Lengthy Period

"Buying an automobile on time is a perfectly sound and legitimate business proceeding," asserts Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, vice-president and director of sales of the concern of that name, in a letter to Lewis F. Reed, 107 East Colorado street, local agent.

"In fact, it is better business to buy a motor car on time than to pay all cash.

"Especially is this true of the business man, who on a year's turnover of his capital should make this money earn several times the interest charge on time payments on his new car.

"The theory that one should not buy an automobile until he had enough cash in the bank and could spare it for this 'extravagance' dates from that prehistoric period when a motor car was not yet known as the greatest of all necessities, but was considered a luxury that could be dispensed with."

That's a mixture of shopping and auto habits, but the auto habit is noticeable, nevertheless. She hugs the curb, as it were, not worrying about parking spaces, for she drives into a pay station. Her movements are more direct than those of other women. And she goes about her shopping without much attention to the persons about her.

POETRY SPREADS TUJUNGA'S FAME

'Literary Digest' Seeks Data As Builder Works Out Housing Problem

Yes, there is no housing problem in Tujunga. All cities have troubles, even as most humans. Some have overripe telephone service, another has a sewer complex. Still others claim that houses are as scarce as bananas, and the landlords charge rents that boost the apoplexy statistics.

Not so in Tujunga. The solution is poetry. The fame of this Verdugo hills town—"Where Opportunity, Health and Prosperity Fraternize"—has gone forth. Poetry in the hands of contractors and builders did it.

Dick Smith started it with a two verse poem about his new office and architectural service. It wasn't bad at all.

Then Jeffries & Jeffries spiked his arsenal with a volley that was short and dazzling. "We are not poets, which we regret, but we can build any kind of a house, you bet."

After this encounter, they both pulled in their sharp-shooting fountain pens, and all was quiet along the Tujunga river for several weeks. It began to look as if they had signed a truce. The anxious bystanders began to relax as the strain wore off.

Unexpected Happens

But it will take more than Henry Ford's peace ship expedition to get the combatants out of the trenches by Christmas now. The unexpected happened.

Lester Purer, an unknown quantity but claiming lots of quality, demoralized both camps with an attack from an unexpected quarter. "A quarter down and four dollars a year the rest of your life." With this battle cry, he leaped out on the installment populace and began throwing houses and lots about promiscuously.

Maybe it was a little more than a quarter and a little less than a life-time. Figures are so hard to remember, except at a burlesque show, and the less said about that the better. If you're married you know how it is yourself.

Anyway, here's the broadside that Les, the magnificent manipulator of militant poetry, fired at the opposition:

"WOULD YOU?
If you could save—yes, every cent
That you are spending for rent,
Would you?
If you could move into a home
A cozy place to call your own,
Would you?"

Fame Calls Tujunga

Right there is where Tujunga's fame began to spread. No return shots have been fired, but a non-combatant connected with the Literary Digest heard that explosion and has asked Mr. Purer for a picture of some of his houses to illustrate a magazine article, dealing with the housing problem and telling how this problem is solved in Tujunga.

Tujunga's poetical war is all over now, like spots on your son when he has the measles. The natives are all agog to see who next breaks out with it.

MONTROSE

MERCHANTS PLAN FOR NIGHT WATCH

Installation of Fire Siren Near Center of Town Part of Program

The Montrose Chamber of Commerce and merchants of the community are making preparations for a night watch patrol of the business district and installing a fire alarm siren. The electric siren will be installed near the corner of Montrose and Honolulu avenues.

A time clock and station keys have been secured for recording the visits of the watchman on his rounds at night. It is understood that the County Fire Protection League will aid in securing fire fighting equipment for Montrose. The siren will be used for either fire or burglary alarms.

Holiday cheer radiates from the huge Christmas tree placed at Montrose and Honolulu avenues. Colored lights and other decorations were used to convey the message of good will to visitors passing through Montrose. Much notice was taken and many favorable comments made by motorists in particular.

Legion Will Meet

The Verdugo Hills Post of the American Legion, newly formed, will hold the next meeting Wednesday, January 2, at the Sparr Heights Community house. The charter is expected to arrive in time for this meeting, in which case the post will proceed with election of officers and organization.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Nelson of Honolulu avenue, Montrose, entertained a Christmas gathering at their home, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ross and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Elliott.

A party was given recently by the kindergarten pupils of the Montrose school for their parents at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Neilson, on Montrose avenue. The children prepared gifts for their mothers and fathers and helped trim a big tree for the occasion. Each child also recited a bit of poetry or entertained in some other way during the party.

Guests of Brother

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Howard of Montrose spent Christmas day with I. R. Howard, a brother, at Long Beach. The brothers had not seen each other for several years, losing trace of each other and only recently learning of the other's presence nearby.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Green were hosts on Christmas day to Mr. and Mrs. S. Scott, recently of Eaton, Colorado, who have come to Montrose to make their home.

Carleton's Counsel Keeps Him Off Stand

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Edward H. Carleton, navy deserter, on trial for the murder of Special Policeman Robert Magee, failed to take the witness stand in his own defense yesterday when his side of the case was presented in superior court. The decision not to let Carleton testify became apparent after the prosecution closed its case. Carleton claims that a man named "Jack Bedford" shot Magee during an attempted robbery of the J. C. Belding home in Irolo street. The defense called but one witness, Lieutenant H. T. Lyon of the U. S. S. Arizona, who testified that the revolver said to have been used by Carleton in shooting Magee was not the type of gun used by the navy.

Stork Kept Busy In Calif., Records Show

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29.—Positive proof that Californians are not fostering race suicide came today from L. E. Ross, head of the state bureau of vital statistics, in his estimate of births during 1923. The birth rate for the year is 20.8 per thousand inhabitants, the highest rate ever established in California and one of the highest on record in the United States. A total of 79,000 births will be recorded for 1923, Ross estimated from compilations for the first eleven months, making an increase of nearly 6,000 over last year.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Jackie:—I fear that when mamma sent for the formula for bad smelling feet she forgot to include a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope. Do you suppose she did? However we can't have little boys with bad smelling feet so here's the formula, just for you. Now do not lose it again the way you did when mamma gave you the one she got out of the paper to take to the drug store.

The formula is: one ounce of formalin (liquid formaldeyde) in one quart of water. Every day when you wash your feet, pour one teaspoonful in your hand and rub on your feet; one teaspoonful for each foot. Do this every day for a week, and then perhaps once or twice a week will be sufficient. This is one of the solutions that the soldier boys used, and you will be glad to know it will help you just as it did them.

Are you a nice boy, Jackie? Do you drink at least three glasses of milk every day and eat lots of spinach and carrots and other good vegetables? Some fruit and whole wheat bread and butter and some cereals? I hope you do. And you don't eat candy between meals, do you? That is not good for little boys or little girls, or for big boys and big girls. Will you write and tell me if the formula helps?

L. H.:—Agar is a Japanese seaweed and is not digestive. It absorbs considerable water and thus gives bulk to the intestinal contents. It can be taken in cereals or just stirred in water and drunk, or made into puddings, or taken in hot milk. It is sometimes called vegetable gelatin. The dose depends upon the individual, usually two or three tablespoonsful a day being sufficient. Get the granulated, non-medicated kind. You will have to get it in the drug store. We have an article on constipation which you may have by sending a fully addressed, stamped envelope.

Mrs. B.:—You should consult a throat specialist about your throat.

W. L.:—Weak bladder and kidney trouble are not the same. If you have either condition you should be under the care of a physician who specializes in these disorders. The term "weak bladder" is often used to express a condition of frequent urination and often the bladder has nothing to do with it. A urinalysis might disclose some disorder which is accompanied by frequent urination.

If there is an inflammation of the bladder, local treatments can be applied by a physician, and the diet should be one which will keep the urine as non-irritative as possible. An exclusive milk or fruit diet or a vegetable diet, with a liberal amount of water, for a few days, is sometimes highly beneficial to the entire system and makes the urine less acid and less irritating.

A non-irritating diet is one which includes very little meat and fish, whites of eggs, spices, condiments, tea, coffee, tobacco, etc. In fact, it would be what we call a non-toxic non-acid diet, one low in flesh products but high in milk, vegetables, fruit. Bread and cereals should not be indulged in too freely, for they are listed in the acid-forming foods.

This non-irritating diet should also be followed by one with kidney trouble, but let me repeat, if you have either of these troubles, you should be under the care of a physician. (Be sure he isn't a bogus one!) We have an article on acidosis and auto-intoxication, which you may have by sending a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this paper, and requesting it.

Mrs. B.:—We have an article on the colic of babies, which you may have. Also ask for the list of books on sex hygiene, and those on the care and feeding of children.

Miss C.:—Send for our article on acidosis and the one on balanced diet.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. A gentleman who has a boy away at college was rather anxious to hear from him and complained as mail after mail arrived with no word, says Soldier (Kan.) Clipper. One day when he received a letter from the bank he smiled and said: "The boy is O. K. I have indirect word from him. The bank says the account is overdrawn."

Lest he be considered dogmatic or unduly stern, the parson had a way of qualifying his pupil utterances, reports Judge.

"My brethren," he said, reaching the climax of his morning discourse, "if you do not repent, so to speak, and believe the Word, as it were, you'll be lost, in a measure."

GANNA WALSKA HIDES IDENTITY

Prima Donna Adopts Name Of Lottie Appel

Ganna Walska (Mrs. Harold F. McCormick)

Not content with being Ganna Walska and Mrs. Harlod F. McCormick, the wife of the "harvester king" is now also "Lottie Appel." She has been discovered under that name rehearsing in Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" with the Wagnerian opera company, now touring the United States. So far she has not appeared before the public in the part. Edward Moerike, director of the company, explaining this, said that Mrs. McCormick possessed "a sweet and well trained voice," but she was too nervous. She is scheduled to sing the part in Figaro, however, when the Wagnerian company appears in New York, it is said. Her efforts in opera as Ganna Walska were not well received by musical critics.

In the average home the New Year's dinner is not so elaborate an affair as the Christmas dinner. This is because the family income has been strained to meet the many expenses of Christmas, and it cannot provide an expensive holiday feast a week later. Therefore the majority of housekeepers choose some roast of meat such as baked ham, leg of lamb, or roast loin of pork to take the place of turkey or chicken at New Year's. The following suggestions may help the inexperienced housekeeper to select suitable dishes to accompany these various roasts:

With Baked Ham—Serve olives, celery, pea soup, the ham, mashed potatoes, baked corn, cranberry jelly, fruit salad, mince and pumpkin pies, coffee, nuts and raisins.

With Leg of Lamb—Serve olives, celery, tomato soup, the lamb, mashed potatoes, brown gravy, cranberry jelly, peas, fruit salad, mince and pumpkin pies, coffee, nuts and raisins.

With Loin of Pork—Serve olives, celery, the pork, mashed potatoes, apple sauce, squash, fruit salad, cranberry pie, mince pie, coffee, nuts, raisins.

The fruit salad mentioned is made with diced oranges, bananas and Malaga grapes moistened with French dressing and served on crisp lettuce.

For the sake of the inexperienced cook I am giving the following recipe for Virginia baked ham (I assume that she knows how to roast the more familiar leg of lamb and loin of pork):

Virginia Baked Ham—Scrape a smoked ham with a dull knife, then soak it in cold water overnight. Scrape again in the morning, rinse, and place it skin-side down in a kettle of cold water; bring to a boil, then throw a pint of cold water into the kettle and remove the scum. Now put into the kettle ten allspice and black pepper corns, a pod of red pepper slit across, and a blade of mace. When the water again comes to the boiling point stand the pot back on the range so that it will merely simmer. Keep the water standing one inch above the meat, adding more as it boils away. Keep lid on loosely. Let simmer till very tender (this of course depends upon the age, weight and hardness of the ham). When tender, let it cool in the same water, then drain and skin. Stick whole cloves into it all over the fat part, and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Place the meat in a roasting pan and add a little hot water, as with any roast. Bake in a slow oven for two hours, basting every twenty minutes.

BEAUTY CHATS

by Edna Kent Forbes

REDUCING BATHS

One hears a great deal of talk nowadays about reduction, possibly as one of the after-effects of Christmas, when everybody eats too much. If you are very much overweight you should reduce by dieting, but if you are not hopelessly stout you can work off quite a bit of flesh by Turkish baths given at home.

If it is possible, however, to go to a real Turkish bath I would advise you to do so. Almost every city has one now, but if you cannot find one you can make yourself a fairly good imitation. Put a small tub, or two or three buckets, together on the floor and place an old wooden chair over them, making the arrangement as convenient as possible. Have enough water boiling to fill them. Undress, throw a big sheet and a couple of blankets around you and fill all these utensils with the boiling water, or have someone fill them for you. Seat yourself on the chair and make a tent out of the sheet and the blankets, the sheet being underneath the blankets to catch the steam; the more blankets the longer you will keep in the hot steam.

You cannot get the water so hot the steam will scald you; indeed, it will have cooled off a great deal by the time you get yourself settled. The steam will open the pores and make you perspire and you will keep on perspiring as long as you stay there, though after a time, of course, the steam will cool down and the pores of the skin close. With enough blankets around you the hot steam will last for thirty minutes, and in that time you may have perspired off a pound or so. Special vapor cabinets come with spirit lamps to keep the water hot, and are no longer very expensive.

These steam baths are enormously valuable not only for reducing but for many physical illnesses. You can steam a cold out of your system and you can use them in the treatment of rheumatism. The danger of catching cold after such a treatment is prevented by a cold sponge bath afterwards.

Baby: For the blackheads, open the pores thoroughly by using applications of hot, wet cloths; softeen the blackheads by rubbing plenty of oil into them or a cleansing cream, after which scrub with a complexion brush and fine soap. Rinse in cool and then very cold water, and finish with an ice rub if possible. A daily full warm bath will also help to clear the complexion, for it will keep the pores active over the whole body.

Worried Miss: As you are only 16 years of age, height five feet, five inches, you are going to be a large woman, so do not worry over your proportions at this time, even though you do weigh 165 pounds. Your only concern now should be not to overeat, especially of sweets or very rich foods.

Mrs. J. M. W.: A dermatologist does this work. I am sorry, but I cannot suggest any one.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

On the Spur of the Moment

By ROY K. MOULTON

IT SHOULDN'T

Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud,
The spirit of mortal engulfed in the crowd,
Surrounded by grafters and gunmen and yeggs,
And cheap politicians who deal with the dregs;
The spirit of mortal by profiteers fleeced,
Who every day sees his expenses increased;
Hard-bitten by taxes and living and rent,
The old easy mark who gives up his last cent,
Who listens to sophistry, piffle and bunk
Until he's lost all of his old fighting spunk—
We ask the whole world if the question's allowed:
Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?

Professional fighters must hereafter pay a fee of $2.50 for the privilege of performing in New Jersey, but how can they be expected to do this when the purses range only from $100,000 to $350,000?

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

"My brother bought a motor here last week," said an angry man to the salesman that stepped up to greet him, "and he said if anything broke you would supply him with new parts."

"Certainly," said the salesman. "What does he want?"

"He wants two deltoid muscles, a couple of kneecaps, one elbow, and about half a yard of cuticle," said the man, "and he wants them at once."

Ah, Old Timer,
Make this note:
Don't eat more than
You can tote.

Take headache tablets all you please,
But watch nature treat disease;
When she has an aching head,
She just simply goes to bed.

You'll find it difficult to correct defective vision by taking headache tablets.

NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TO BE DEDICAT

ASSOCIATE PASTOR GIVES WORD SKETCH OF WORK TO SECURE BIG EDIFICE

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, at Prayer Service Held in December, 1916, Advances Idea and Congregation Shows Enthusiasm

By REV. LOUIS TINNING
Associate Pastor

The first mention of the new Glendale Presbyterian church was made by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, at a Wednesday evening prayer service held in the old church building early in December, 1916. In a heart to heart talk to his people, the pastor stated that in his judgment the time was fast approaching when the building equipment of the congregation must be largely increased if the church were to be ready to meet the needs of a rapidly growing and developing community.

REV. LOUIS TINNING, assistant pastor of the church.

The congregation received their pastor's announcement quietly but with a very definite Presbyterian enthusiasm.

In earlier years this church had adopted and established a strong and positive teaching program which found expression in all departments of the church work and made a strong popular appeal in the annual Bible conferences. After the matter had been talked of in the prayer meeting it became a topic of constant conversation among the members and officials.

Takes Firm Hold

The new church idea had taken such firm hold in the minds of the people that on December 16, 1916, according to the records, "A congregational meeting took the first step toward a new church in appointing a committee to survey for a new site. This was done by way of timely preparation for the future need; the present building being nearly outgrown and the expanding duties and opportunities of the church foreshadowing the need of a very much greater equipment as well as a location more central to the growing population." The interest and activity of the committee of survey is shown by the fact that at the annual congregational business meeting held on March 31, 1917, "The congregation authorized the trustees to purchase the site of the new church building at the northwest corner of Harvard and Louise streets.

W. J. CLENDENIN, elder, and chairman of building committee.

Taxed to Capacity

The membership then numbered little more than 500. At that time the old church building at East Broadway and Cedar street was often taxed to capacity with the large audiences which assembled. Large numbers were being constantly added to the membership. Almost without exception, these new members became permanent residents of Glendale.

The outlook for future growth and development in both city and congregation was very promising, but even the most hopelessly optimistic scarcely dared to dream for such growth as has since taken place. These early steps were followed by long months of preliminary planning and canvassing. Then all plans were rudely broken into by the entrance of the United States into the world war. For a long time even so important a matter as the building of a church was set aside and the efforts of the people were centered on winning of the war.

Again Taken Up

After the war was over and men's minds were resuming their normal attitudes the new church question was again taken up. During Christmas week of 1920 the official boards of the church met at the home of Elder R. A. Peterson in Los Angeles. Their purpose was to give official sanction to the revived building project. This gathering of church officers voted unanimously and enthusiastically to resume and carry to completion the pre-war plans for building. There was a definite conviction that a new building must be erected. No time was set when active operations should begin, but this meeting gave official sanction and a new interest to the resumption of the building plans.

Inspect Churches

On September 21, 1921, the congregation authorized the previously appointed committees to proceed in the preparation of plans for the building. The building committee was made up of the following men: W. J. Clendenin, R. P. Isitt, H. L. Finlay, Geo. D. McDill and L. A. Hart. This committee visited church after church among the large churches of Southern California and found in the Congregational church of Pomona an auditorium best adapted to the needs of the Presbyterian congregation of Glendale. After conferences with various architects, Robert H. Orr of Los Angeles was the unanimous choice of the committee.

H. L. FINLEY, elder and superintendent of Sunday School.

Soon after Mr. Orr was chosen as the official architect he met the building committee at the Athletic club in Los Angeles. With the Pomona auditorium as a pattern, a long time was spent in incorporating the various ideas and suggestions of the committee. Then a rough pencil sketch was submitted. Later a more detailed pencil sketch was presented and after numerous changes it was accepted by the committee as the basis for the subsequent plans, which have since been used in the construction of the building.

Ground was broken for the new building on Easter Sunday, April

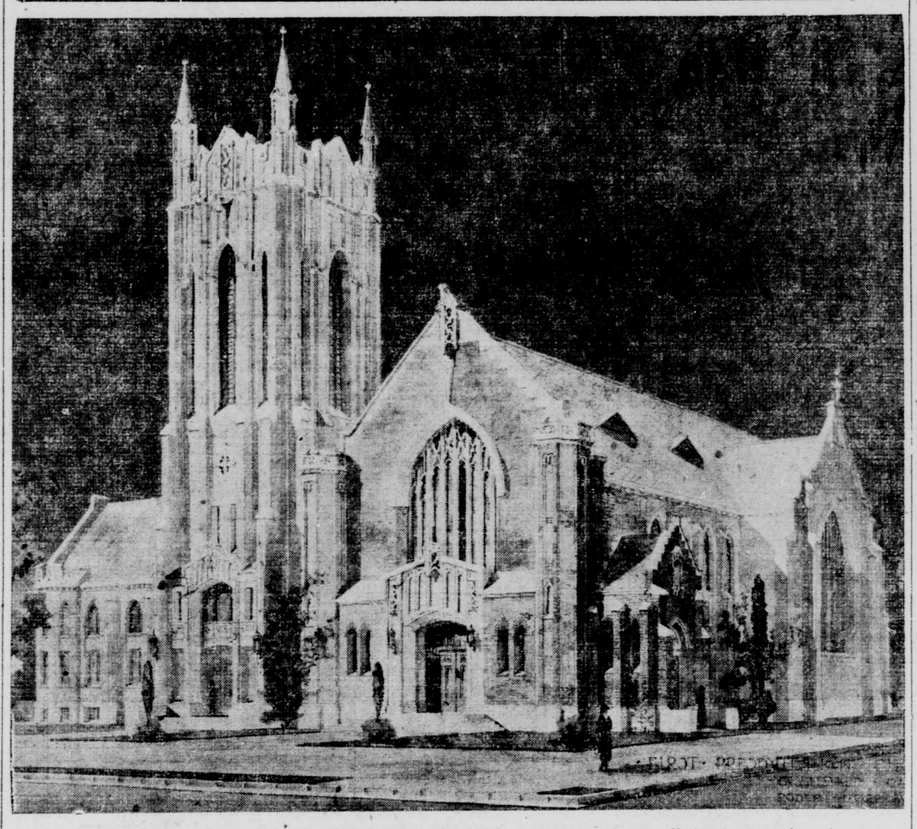
New Structure Is Imposing



Glendale Presbyterian church, "The Church of the Lighted Cross," just completed at approximate cost of $336,000, at the northwest corner of East Harvard and South Louise streets. The building, which is of Gothic design, covers a ground area of 150 by 150 feet and required twenty months to construct. Rev. W. E. Edmonds is pastor, and Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor. There are 1300 members enrolled in the church and all departments of the Bible school include over 1200 children and adults.

Church of Lighted Cross

"The Church of the Lighted Cross" is synonymous with Glendale Presbyterian church, and the same lighted cross, a memorial to the late Eugene C. Frank, that has shone from the old church building on East Broadway, has been enlarged and remodeled and installed on the main front gable of the new church at the corner of East Harvard and South Louise streets.

A. R. EASTMAN, treasurer of the finance committee for the building.

This cross is just one of the features of the elaborate electrical work installed in the church building by the J. A. Newton Electrical company.

An added attraction of the exterior lighting is the flood lighting of the beautiful tower from all four sides, making it as plainly visible at night as it is during the day.

The electrical feature of the interior of the building is the massive chandelier in the auditorium, the largest lighting fixture in Glendale.

Weighs Half Ton

This chandelier hangs from the center of the auditorium and weighs approximately one-half ton. It is of wrought iron and measures approximately eight and one-half feet in diameter and hangs more than eighteen feet from the ceiling to the bottom of the heavy ornate castings that form the bottom terminal.

It is being hung so that it can be raised and lowered for the purpose of installing new lamps and cleaning the reflectors. The problem of raising and lowering it from a forty-foot ceiling has been entirely worked out by the Newton company. It is done by the use of a heavy iron windlass in the attic, which allows the fixture to drop suspended by a heavy iron cable. To make doubly sure of this weight being supported after it is raised, a heavy iron bar will be slipped through a large loop on the top of the stem across the main members of the trusses in the attic.

Soft, Even Lights

The light is supplied from eight 1000-watt Mazda lamps, which are set in special silver mirrored reflectors, made by the National X-Ray company. These reflectors throw the light against the beautiful ceiling and thus give that soft, even light that is adapted to any public auditorium. The beauty of the art glass work in this fixture is brought out by the use of forty-four smaller

C. E. BOSS, member of the board of trustees of the church.

Mazda lamps, evenly distributed within the fixture.

In addition to this main large fixture there are two similar wrought iron fixtures of smaller dimensions, which are in themselves immense. They are hung above the large balcony in the auditorium.

The space under the balcony and in the beautiful auditorium at either side are being illuminated by the totally indirect system of X-ray lighting, which is concealed in Gothic designed bowls of staff work.

Lighting in other parts of the building has been expertly planned and installed by the Newton company.

Old Bell Treasured

Perpetuating the spirit that prompted the establishing of the Glendale Presbyterian church over thirty-five years ago, the old bell, the treasured possession of the church, for it is said to have been the first church bell to ring out across the distances of San Fernando valley, is to sound the hours from the tower of the new building.

It is a massive iron bell, cast in New York in 1887, and bearing the inscription, "His sound shall be heard when he goeth in unto the holy place before the Lord."

H. L. BROWN, one of the elders and member of finance committee.

The church people were worshipping in the old church, located on the present site of the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue, when the drive for funds for the church bell was started. The funds were raised by dollar subscriptions.

Later the congregation moved to a building that still stands behind the church building on East Broadway and Cedar street. In this old building the bell was first hung and rung to call the congregation to services. Rev. A. R. Bickenbach was at that time pastor of the church.

This old bell is to be rung at hour intervals during the day, keeping pace with the great memorial clock in the church tower.

EVANGELIST TO HELP

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, will preside over the dedicatory services to be held starting at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. He will be assisted by George L. Snively, evangelist from Illinois. The services will continue through the day and evening.

ATTRACTIVE STRUCTURE IS ASSET

Whole City Takes Pride In New Building, Credit to Any Community

Glendale Presbyterian church members will be hosts Sunday, December 30, at the dedication of their new church building at the northwest corner of East Harvard and South Louise streets, and the dedicatory program that will fill the entire Sabbath day will draw ministers and laymen from all parts of California and other states.

It will be the consecration of the beautiful "Church of the Lighted Cross," a religious edifice to stand throughout the years to come as one of Glendale's prominent landmarks, housing a religious organization that is a vital unit in the religious life of the city.

W. G. BOYD, elder, Glendale Presbyterian church.

Wonderful Structure

Upon a piece of ground 150 by 150 feet has risen a wonderful structure of dignified Gothic design that has been rightly compared to the cathedrals of the old countries.

With its dark red brick exterior, lofty clock tower and stately spires reaching to the firmament above, its great memorial windows framed in Gothic style and entrances of Terrazo, leading to massive oak doors, the new Glendale Presbyterian church indeed possesses the same appeal of the old churches in foreign parts.

The two main entrances are on the Harvard street side, the one to the west being designated as the "Tower entrance," leading into a cloister from which one may go west to the offices and Sunday school rooms, north through the court to the entrance into the Sunday school and east into the vestibule of the auditorium.

Well Arranged

Main entrance into the vestibule of the auditorium is also on

J. B. M'CLELLAN, trustee, Glendale Presbyterian church.

Harvard street, just east of the "Tower entrance."

The floors of the new building are called the first floor, which is the basement; the main floor and the second floor.

Fitting in with the splendid organization of the church, the building is arranged so that the Sunday school, young people's organizations, women's and men's organizations and other activities of like nature are accommodated in the west portion of the building, known as the "Bible school."

A delightful little court is the nucleus of the great edifice and plans are for beautifying it with fountain, flowers, plants and other attractions in keeping with the atmosphere of the surroundings.

On Committees

Robert Orr served as architect of the new building, which has been built at an approximate cost of $336,000.

W. J. Clendenin is chairman of the building committee and his associates are L. A. Hart, R. P. Isitt, H. L. Finlay, G. D. McDill.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds

Pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church and one of the leaders in the religious work of the community.

For several years prior to 1893, Mr. Edmonds was employed in the Elgin Watch Factory, Elgin, Illinois, as an inspector. In October 1893, he decided to enter the Young Men's Christian Association work, and for a time served as assistant secretary in the Elgin, Illinois, association. Later he was called to the secretaryship of the Y. M. C. A. in Macomb, Illinois, and during the sixteen years which followed served various associations in Texas, Illinois and Colorado. In 1909, he was installed as pastor of the Bethel Presbyterian church, of Peoria, Illinois, after being ordained by the Presbytery of Peoria. On December 11, 1911, he was installed as pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, which was then in process of completion at the corner of Cedar street and East Broadway, then known as Fourth street. In April, 1912, the church was dedicated. Five years ago, he saw the possibility of the future growth and development of this city, which when he came here had a population of about 3,500. Plans were discussed at various times relative to the possibility of greatly enlarged work. These plans were consummated when on April 16, 1922, ground was broken for the present edifice at Harvard and Louise streets. Rev. Edmonds has had several flattering calls to lead the work in other cities, but has persistently refused all offers, feeling that Glendale with its great outlook would afford him all the opportunities which he could possibly desire. The new church stands as a testimony, not only of loyalty to leadership, but of united vision on the part of the officers of the church.

Cornerstone Services Are Held December 31, 1922

Now that the new Glendale Presbyterian church is a realization, finished completely on the northwest corner of East Harvard and South Louise streets, it is interesting to recall the ceremony of the laying of the cornerstone, December 31, 1922.

Dr. John Willis Baer of Pasadena, formerly president of Occidental college, was the speaker of the occasion. He was the speaker twelve years ago at the dedication of the church just vacated on East Broadway and Cedar street.

The cornerstone was laid by Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the church. Felicitations from all the churches of Glendale were extended by Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church.

The outlook for the future was emphasized by W. J. Clendennin of 600 South Central avenue, chairman of the building committee, who compared conditions twenty-five years ago with those likely to exist twenty-five years from today.

George D. McDill, executive secretary of the new church building, was another speaker.

The only living charter members of the church were given seats of honor. They were Mrs. Hulda Miller Byram and her daughter, Mrs. Eva Byram Banker, Mrs.

Building's Tower Provides City With New Landmark

With all the spiritual dignity of the old cathedrals of Europe the tower on the new edifice of the Glendale Presbyterian church, has slowly risen above its surroundings to take its place through the years to come as one of the landmarks in the city of Glendale.

Glendalians and visitors who have watched workmen perched on dangerous heights, busy finishing the work on the four pointed art stone spires have voiced a comparison between the church and the cathedrals of Europe.

It is exactly 135 feet from the ground to the tip of the tower spires. For a great distance the construction is of brick, similar to the whole building. The top of the tower, in which the great memorial clock will be installed, is partially made, and decorated with art stone.

The four circular openings for the clock's faces are nine feet in diameter. In the tower the old church bell will be hung to strike the hours and at some future time it is the intention of the church people to install a set of chimes.

A stairway leads from the main floor of the building up the height of the tower, where class rooms and living quarters for the custodian are located.

L. A. HART, deacon and member of building committee.

An overflow meeting will be held at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, in the Central Christian church, to accommodate those who it is anticipated will be unable to attend the dedicatory services in the Glendale Presbyterian church, owing to crowds.

CLEAR GROUND

The first step in beautifying the grounds of the new Glendale Presbyterian church has been taken, in removal of the contractor's buildings from the premises, and it is expected that landscape work will start soon.

Records Recall Pioneer Days of Church In Glendale

The magnificent edifice just completed at the corner of Harvard and South Louise streets by the Glendale Presbyterian church is the visualization of a spirit, consecrated and full of faith, which, unconquered through the hardships of pioneer days, through the struggles and adversities attending subsequent periods, met the various problems confronting it and, with vision and foresight, not only provided for the emergency then presenting itself, but with a faith unbounded and a consecration sublime builded for future demands.

Prophetic are the words of Rev. S. Lawrence Ward, pastor of the church at the time the second edifice was in the process of erection, and they are equally applicable to the present time on the completion of the third edifice: "The old church building has been outgrown and a new one is about to receive us. The village life has passed away and every day is doing its part toward bringing city conditions. Most of those who have been a part of the church history from the beginning are gone from us, some of them to the Church Triumphant. We do not wish to forget what they have done for us, even though we desire intensely to press forward."

Church Organization

The Glendale Presbyterian church is the outcome of services which were held from time to time previous to the organization of the church by the Rev. J. M. Boal, pastor of the East Los Angeles church, now called the Second Presbyterian church of Los Angeles.

On September 28, 1884, a committee of the Los Angeles Presbytery, consisting of Revs. L. P. Crawford, chairman; J. M. Boal, J. W. Ellis and Elder C. N. McBurney, organized the Presbyterian church of Riverdale. After several names had been tried for the new community, the name of Glendale was settled upon and, at a congregational meeting February 1, 1885, the name was changed to the Glendale Presbyterian church, and, later, the church was incorporated under this name.

The church was organized with twelve charter members, five of whom are still living, four of them in Glendale. The members were Ellis T. Byram, Mrs. H. M. Byram, Miss Eva Byram (Mrs. J. M. Banker), William D. Byram, Samuel A. Ayers, Mrs. Minnie Ayers, Miss Mary C. Ayers (Mrs. Harry Banker), Miss Alice Miller (Mrs. Elias Ayers), John D. Miller, Mrs. Rachel Chrisler, Mrs. Catherine Erskine and Miss Adah Z. Coleman.

Mrs. H. M. Byram, Mrs. Samuel Ayers, Minnie Ayers, Mrs. Elias Ayers and Mrs. J. M. Banker still reside in Glendale.

First Building

The first edifice of this little congregation was erected early in 1885, on Glendale avenue, south of Windsor road, where the Dunker church now stands, and was dedicated June 28 of the same year, about nine months after the organization of the church, which, previous to this time, had worshiped with the congregation in a little church, now the social hall of the Central Avenue Methodist church, which had been erected by the community earlier in the summer of 1884. This building at that time was also on Glendale avenue, and was removed to its present location on Palmer avenue near Central avenue in 1904. For a short time before occupying their new church home, the Presbyterian congregation worshiped in the home of Samuel A. Ayers, a charter member, living on Central avenue.

An account of the dedication of the new Presbyterian church was given in the "Herald and Presbyter." It reads as follows:

"Last Sabbath, June 28, 1885, was a joyful day for the people of Glendale.

"This little church was planted about nine months ago, a small organization, of members that are to be weighed and not counted, by reason of their energy and influence. They were using a union building, but, some difficulty occurring in arranging for services as often as desired, the people, wholly unable, felt constrained to build.

"It did not seem as though they could get more than the frame up and the floor in, even with the aid the Board of Erection would grant. But it was undertaken, and work commenced January 22. On February 15 we held services in the church. This was a day of thanksgiving for unexpected blessing on the effort.

"Several weeks passed, more money was collected, and arrangements were talked of and finally made for plastering. Then the inside was finished and about two-thirds of the pews put in, and all was paid for as far as completed.

"When the day of dedication arrived, the treasurer's report showed a balance of $7.30 in the treasury. But this and much more will be used before the grounds are fixed, blinds on, carpets in, and other conveniences added.

Make Donations

"An excellent Christian lady in Oregon gave the pulpit furniture and communion stand; another in New Jersey furnished the lamps; a couple of friends of the work a handsome scarf for the pulpit, and two of the young converts a fine Bible.

MRS. G. D. McDILL, chairman of the Mission department.

"We were so fortunate as to have Rev. D. W. Poor, D. D., of Philadelphia, with us on the day of dedication, who preached the sermon from Peter 2, 6. After this the president of the Board of Trustees (Ellis T. Byram) handed over the keys to the pastor (Rev. W. S. Young), thanking the people for their hearty and handy co-operation in the work.

"Rev. J. M. Boal then offered the dedicatory prayer and the dedicatory hymn given below, which was written by a member of the congregation for the occasion, was sung by the choir.

"The pastor in charge returned the keys to the president, commending the board for their care and frugality, but telling them the financial affairs would still devolve on them.

"After some remarks by visiting brethren, the services were closed. Many expressions of congratulation were given.

"But for the proffered help of the Board of Church Erection, encouraging the people to help themselves, this building would not have been undertaken for some time."

J. C. Sherer Writes Hymn

The dedicatory hymn spoken of in the above account was written by J. C. Sherer, and was sung to the tune of "Brattle Street" on the day of the dedication.

The hymn was used again at the dedication of the second church erected by this congregation, and is as follows:

DEDICATION HYMN

We raise our voices, Lord, to thee
And ask that through thy grace
The house which we have built may be
Thy spirit's dwelling place;
That here the wounded heart may find
Some solace for its pain,
And, leaving doubts and care behind,
May its last peace regain.

In this, thy temple, which our hands
Have raised, O Lord, to thee,
May we attend to thy commands,
Thy glory may we see!
Here on thy altar would we place
The offerings which thy love,
Accepting with thy saving grace,
Shall register above!

Thy kingdom stands supreme;
Within the heart thy impulse thrills
With its divinest beam.
There lives no pain which thy great love
Cannot at once dispel.
The soul which looks for help above
Rejoices and is well.

May this, thy temple, firmly stand
Throughout unnumbered days,
And may our songs of praise
Ring through the vaulted skies above,
Triumphing in thy grace
Till, crowned by eternal love,
We stand before thy face.
—J. C. Sherer, 1885.

Raise First Funds

An interesting detail is related of the raising of the first funds for the erection of the contemplated building. On New Year's day, January 1, 1885, a church supper was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Byram, on Glendale avenue near California street, which is still the family home.

Guests came from far and near. Colonel Griffith, an outstanding figure in the early days, who later gave that wonderful gift to the people, Griffith park, came on horseback with a party of friends from the Griffith park district, then the Griffith homestead.

The sum of $49, a large sum in those days, was realized for the building, which was begun on the 22nd of the same month and was occupied February 15, twenty-four days later, by the Presbyterian congregation. Part of the fund was diverted to the final payment on the organ which had been used in the community church, and it was taken to the new building and used for years.

List of Pastors

While still worshiping in the community church building, Rev. William Stuart Young began his work as first minister of this church, giving it half of his time and the other half to the Boyle Heights church in Los Angeles.

Dr. Young was afterward pastor of Knox Presbyterian church, Los Angeles, and is at present superintendent of Hollenbeck Home. He was stated clerk of the Los Angeles Presbytery and also of the Synod of California, perhaps the highest honor possible to a minister in his own state.

Dr. Young is held in high regard by members of his former congregation and has conducted the funeral services for a number of the charter members of this church, Ellis T. Byram, the first elder, Samuel A. Ayers and others.

At the end of his year Dr. Young was forced by the growth of the Boyle Heights church to give up the Glendale work.

Rev. S. Lawrence Ward, who, with his wife, Mrs. Irene Briggs Ward, a daughter of Dr. Briggs of "The Terrace" at La Crescenta, was here on a furlough from the foreign mission field in Persia, supplied the pulpit from December 1, 1885, to February 28, 1886, when he returned to Tabriz, Persia.

In July, 1905, Rev. Ward returned to the pastorate at Glendale, was installed October 12, 1905, and served until the coming of Rev. W. E. Edmonds, the present pastor, in 1911.

Following Rev. Ward's return to Persia in 1886, the church was without a regular pastor until December 12, 1886, Rev. A. R. Bickenbach began his work, and on May 9, 1888, was installed as pastor and continued to serve this congregation until February 25, 1899.

During the pastorate of Dr. Bickenbach the church building was removed from Glendale avenue to the corner of Cedar street and East Broadway (then designated as "C" and Fourth street), on lots donated by B. F. Patterson and E. T. Byram.

Bell Is Installed

Also the bell was installed during his pastorate, which since that time has sounded the call to services in both edifices occupied by this congregation, and now it has been hung in the crowning beauty of the new, magnificent structure, the stately tower, which can be seen for miles over the valley.

The bell was purchased largely by dollar subscriptions in response to the appeals of members to their eastern friends. The past summer a letter from Dr. Bickenbach, from Oregon, Ill., of the date July 27, 1923, was received, in which he says: "Mr. Sherer writes me that the old bell is still ringing that we put in the belfry thirty-seven years ago. Those dollar subscribers ought to feel they have

GRADED BIBLE SCHOOL IS FEATURE

Perfect Organization Brings Classes to Success In Study of Book

A real inspiration for the activities of the systematically graded Bible school of the Glendale Presbyterian church is the entire west section of the new church building, where adequate and practical accommodations are found for every department of this unit of the church organization.

When one enters the church building through the "Tower Entrance" and goes directly through the court he comes to an art stone archway over heavy oak doors, bearing the words "Bible School" and giving access to the various assembly and class rooms.

Not a class in the Bible school was forgotten in the plans of the building. There are countless class rooms on all three floors, to supplement the activities carried on in the larger assembly rooms.

It is interesting to note that the west end of each floor is similarly planned. On the main floor is found the large room for the primary department, splendidly lighted and ventilated. It is a meeting place for the children on Sundays and during week days daily kindergarten is in progress. Adjacent to this room are two large asesmbly rooms, one equipped with a kitchenette, where classes or other departments of the church meet.

Office of Leader

Also on the main floor is the office of the Bible school superintendent, equipped with desk and chairs and an electrical signalling system communicating with class rooms on all floors. Continuing down the hall from this office one finds several small, individual class rooms.

Rooms for the intermediate department are found on the second floor, the kitchenette on the main floor being duplicated in one of the rooms. There are also rooms for the beginners and the cradle roll and it is hoped that the cradle roll room can be ideally equipped as a nursery to be used during church gatherings.

Other individual class rooms are found on the second floor and up in the tower.

The junior department has a large assembly room with adjoining class rooms on the first floor or basement.

List of Officers

These various departments with the addition of the home department represent an enrollment of 1200, all under the superintendency of H. L. Finlay.

Other officers are Miss Bessie L. Field and Howard Brown, associate superintendents; J. W. Stauffacher, C. E. Boss, secretaries; J. B. McClellan, treasurer; L. D. Triol, associate treasurer.

had their money's worth. It was to sound a glad note, and I am sure it has."

From May, 1890, to July, 1895, the Glendale church and the Presbyterian church at Burbank were both under the pastoral care of the Rev. Ruel Dodd, who is reported as one of the most spiritual of men. Rev. Dodd was able to be at the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the church.

Rev. Eugene R. Mills followed as pastor from October, 1895, till his death in 1899.

Rev. D. M. Stuart was pastor from 1900 to 1903, and was followed by Rev. Charles D. Merrill, from January, 1904, to April, 1905. In the following July Rev. S. Lawrence Ward returned to the pastorate as related above, serving the church until 1911, when Rev. Walter E. Edmonds, the present pastor, took charge.

In February, 1921, Rev. Louis Tinning became the assistant pastor of the church and still continues in that position.

Membership Growth

The record of memberships during these early days shows the varied growth of the congregation. The membership from 1885 to 1911 by years is as follows: 1885, 21; 1886, 34; 1887, 39; 1888, 34; 1889, 41; 1890, 42; 1891, 38; 1892, 38; 1893, 45; 1894, 54; 1895, 62; 1896, 62; 1897, 60; 1898, 53; 1899, 62; 1900, 78; 1901, 86; 1902, 78; 1903, 78; 1904, 66; 1905, 75; 1906, 48; 1907, 67; 1908, 92; 1909, 92; 1910, 145; 1911, 185. From 185 in July, 1911, to December, 1911, the commencement of the pastorate of Rev. W. E. Edmonds, the membership had increased to 197 and now numbers, at the close of 1923, 1,300.

Ellis T. Byram was the first elder and continued as sole elder, except for a brief time when he was assisted by G. W. Woodard, until April 3, 1889, when H. H. Dobbins was elected. Among the elders serving in the early days were Theodore Kanouse, 1894-1905; Samuel Fiske, 1894-19; Edgar B. Pratt, 1897-1902; Geo. Nagle, 1900-1901; Harlan B. Pratt, 1902-1905; A. R. The first trustees elected were E. T. Byram, chairman; J. C. Sherer, secretary; J. A. B. Erskine, Samuel A. Ayers and George F. Woodward, who held their first meeting at the home of S. Everett Chase, January 5, 1885. It was under this board the first edifice was erected.

Organists and Choir

Miss Eva Byram (Mrs. J. M. Banker) was the first organist in the little church. Mrs. J. E. Fiske followed Mrs. Banker, who later resumed the position and was the organist at the time of the dedication of the second edifice. Others presiding at the organ were George Ketterling, Miss Marion Carmichael, Mrs. Arnold des Plantes, Miss Carolyn G. Bailey and Oscar F. Walton. Otto T. Hirschler is the organist-director at the present time and will have charge of the dedicatory music.

J. E. Fiske organized the first choir, and the list of singers who in the early years so lovingly gave their services included Mr. Fiske and his sons, Samuel and Dana; Miss Agnes Fiske (Mrs. Frank Albright), Mr. and Mrs. John Hobbs, Mrs. J. M. Banker, E. T. Byram, T. D. Kanouse, Mrs. E. L. French. Later the list includes Miss Jessie Mills, Miss Ruth Byram, Miss Judson Harris and Mrs. Lillian Dow, who had charge of the music at one time.

Hold Twenty-fifth Anniversary

On September 26, 1909, during the second pastorate of Dr. Ward, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the church September 28, 1884, was celebrated. A number of the charter members and former pastors were present.

The following program was given: Prelude; singing of the Doxology; invocation; scripture reading by Rev. Theodore Hopping; prayer by Rev. F. A. Field; address by Rev. William Stuart Young, first pastor of the church; "Reminiscences of Beginning," Mrs. J. M. Banker; "Following Years," J. C. Sherer; Rev. Ruel Dodd on his own pastorate; letters from former pastors and members; statistics by the pastor, Rev. S. Lawrence Ward.

The evening program included: Reminiscences by Mrs. Samuel A. Ayers, a charter member; "Beginning of Ladies' Work," by Mrs. Elias Ayers, also a charter member; address by Rev. H. C. Shoemaker, pastor of the Tropico Presbyterian church.

Build New Church

In 1910 plans were made for the construction of the new church edifice and the little church was moved to the lot in the rear, to be used as a social hall and Sunday school class room when the new church, the construction of which was begun in November, 1910, should be finished.

This new church was occupied first by the primary class of the Sunday school and later the Sunday school room was used for church services during the latter part of 1911 and early part of 1912. The last quarterly communion held in the little old church was in April, 1911.

This church was craftsman style in architecture, with concrete tile roof. The outside was of shingles of natural color. Messrs. Ayers and Colvin are spoken of as giving a great deal of time, thought and labor to the new building and also acknowledgments to business houses supplying material at cost were made.

Indebtedness to Architect Paul V. Tuttle and Theodore Hopping were also acknowledged at the time of construction.

At the time of the erection of the second church building the members of the board of trustees were: F. R. Sinclair, president; M. P. Harrison, E. McDonald, Ben H. Nichols, secretary and treasurer, and James A. Newton. The building committee was Elias Ayers, Elmer B. Riggs, J. E. Colvin, J. W. Fairchild, B. H. Nichols, William Chappell and E. McDonald.

The building was sold to the Broadway Methodist Church, South, who are now occupying it.

An account of the dedication published in The Glendale News reads as follows:

"PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH DEDICATION

"A Remarkable Financial Achievement; A Series of Interesting Services

"Last week certainly belonged to the Presbyterian church in Glendale. Two weeks ago that church was in debt to the extent of something like $6,000. Today the debt has not only been provided for, but the pledges are sufficient to make a surplus. The campaign started a week ago, when a committee started out with the avowed intention of raising $5,000 in one day, and they fell only a few hundred dollars short of the accomplishment.

"The church was dedicated last Sunday, and during the various services of the day over $1,100 was raised. The church with furnishings cost about $15,000. It is a handsome and commodious structure and will comfortably seat about 800 people.

"Much credit for the erection of the building belongs to Mr. Elias Ayers, who acted as overseer of the work of building, and certainly the minister, Rev. Walter E. Edmonds, who recently took up the work in this field, has put a great amount of intelligently directed energy into the work and is naturally gratified at the liberal help given by his congregation and others.

"A correspondent sends us the following account of the services of the day and Monday evening:

"'At the morning service an earnest and helpful address was given by John Willis Baer, president of Occidental college. A beautiful solo was sung by George Stivers of Los Angeles.

"'In the afternoon the other churches of the valley united with the Presbyterians and their pastors were seated on the platform. Rev. S. Lawrence Ward, former pastor of the church, presided. The dedication sermon was preached by Rev. W. B. Gantz, pastor of Highland Park Presbyterian church, a fine scholarly sermon delivered in a forceful manner which received the close attention of the large congregation.

"'An anthem prepared by Miss Judson Harris, a member of the church, for the dedication service, was sung by the chorus choir, as was also a dedication hymn composed by J. C. Sherer for the original church building twenty-seven years ago.

"'The church building was given to God to be used for His services at this afternoon gathering, at which time the pastor led the people in a solemn responsive reading of dedication.

"'In the evening a large audience, overflowing into the Sabbath school room, listened intently to Rev. R. A. Torrey, who preached the gospel message in his plain and sincere manner. Unlike the usual custom of dedication Sabbaths, the offering of the evening service was given to Dr. Torrey to use in the work of the Bible Institute. The charge to the pastor was given by Rev. William S. Young. Monday evening the services connected with the installation of the new pastor, Rev. Walter Edmonds, recently called from Peoria, Ill., to become pastor of the church, were held.

"'The sermon was preached by Rev. Moses Breeze of New York City. The charge to the pastor was given by Rev. William S. Young and the charge to the people by Rev. A. B. Pritchard, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, Los Angeles. The new pastor has the united support of his people and the church is growing in its different branches of work.'"

Many considered the then new building uselessly and needlessly large, but the years have borne out the wisdom and vision of its builders. From that time the history of the work has been one of continuous growth and expansion. This growth continued to such an extent that in 1920 the initial steps were taken to provide larger and more adequate facilities for the greatly enlarged work.

A centrally located site was secured at Harvard and Louise streets and ground was broken for the new building on Easter day, 1922.

PROGRAM OF DEDICATION COMPLETE

Impressive Ceremonies Will Take Place Tomorrow at New Edifice

Glendale Presbyterian church members and their friends are to have a day of rejoicing tomorrow, when the new church building at the northwest corner of East Harvard and South Louise streets is formally dedicated. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the church, assisted by George L. Snively, evangelist, from Illinois, will preside over the day's program, which is to begin at 9:30 o'clock and continue throughout the day and through the evening.

Preceding the opening service, a candle drill, at 9:30 o'clock, the church building will be opened at 8 o'clock for inspection.

Events of the day and the time schedule will be:

Candle drill, 9:30 o'clock.
Overflow meeting, Central Christian church, 10:30 o'clock.
Dedicatory service, 10:30 o'clock.
Dinner, 12:30 o'clock.
Memorial service, 2:30 o'clock.
Evening service, 7:30 o'clock.

Snively's Address

Mr. Snively will present a unique address at the first service of the day. His talk will be illustrated with scores of vari-colored candles.

The overflow meeting at 10:30 o'clock at the Central Christian church, in the social hall, will be of special interest to young people. A program of music, song, reading and story will be given. At the close of the service those attendants whose parents are at the church will return to the banquet room for dinner.

At the same hour, 10:30 o'clock, the dedicatory service will be held in the new church building, and Mr. Snively will preach on "The Significance of Christianity to the American Institutions of School and State, Home and Church." There will be a musical program during the service.

All those attending the dedicatory service are to be guests of the church at the dinner at 12:30 o'clock in the banquet room of the new building.

Memorial Services

At 2:30 o'clock an impressive memorial service will be held in honor of the deceased members of the Bible school and church. Eulogistic addresses will be given by W. J. Clendenin, H. L. Finlay, J. C. Sherer and others.

One of the feature addresses of the day will be given by Judge Robert H. Scott on "The Old Days and the Old Ways and the Old Friends." He will deal with early explorations and the development of this wonderful golden coast, industrially, socially, commercially, religiously and politically.

At 7:30 o'clock Mr. Snively will preach again on "If a Man Die, Shall He Live Again?"

In announcing the day of dedication it is asked that Glendalians wait until 8 o'clock Sunday morning to view the interior of the building. A cordial invitation to all citizens, regardless of creed, is extended by ministers and members to the services on Sunday.

Brief Church History By Associate Pastor

16, 1922. The cornerstone was laid on December 31, 1922, and the edifice will be dedicated on December 30, 1923. It is a far cry from that quiet Presbyterian prayer service in December, 1916, to the completed edifice of today. From the inglenook in the social hall to the beautiful four-pointed tower it is a marvel of beauty and utility. The effort and prayer and sacrifice of God's temple will find their fond hopes realized when the completed building is laid at the feet of the Master in solemn dedication.

Ventilation, Heating Systems Are Perfect

Perfect comfort is provided in the new Glendale Presbyterian church by modern systems of ventilation and heating. Ample provision was made by Architect Robert Orr for perfect ventilation in the various rooms and halls and in providing for heating a large furnace room was built adjacent to the kitchen in the first or basement floor.

A large gas furnace generates a steady supply of heat, which is distributed to the various parts of the building by an electric fan.

Dining Room, Large Kitchen Are Features

Accommodations and equipment for serving meals are always of paramount importance in the planning and building of a great public structure and in the new Glendale Presbyterian church building these features have been most satisfactorily provided by the architect.

Kitchen and dining hall are both found on the first floor or basement, and both are modernly planned and equipped in every detail.

The commodious kitchen with its convenient arrangement, large cupboard space, modern equipment and easy access to both social and dining halls is the delight of every church member, especially the women.

Between the kitchen proper and the dining hall is a serving room, with countless shelves and buffet from which food can be easily served.

In the large dining hall fully 1000 people can be seated. This room can be easily enlarged by throwing open the junior department room to the south.

Social Hall Holds Attractions For Many

Real hospitality is found in the social hall of the Glendale Presbyterian church. This room, which occupies the northwest portion of the first floor or basement, is already well known to the church people, for during recent weeks they have gathered there for Sunday evening services.

It is specially arranged for midweek meetings and informal social affairs and can be enlarged by opening another assembly room to the south.

A large fireplace, and buffet for serving luncheons and light refreshments lend an air of hospitality that will be a dominating feature of this large auditorium.

A doorway leads from this room out onto the walk to the north of the church building.

Beautiful Quarters For Use of Pastor

The pastor's study was given a prominent place in the design of the new Glendale Presbyterian church, and Rev. W. E. Edmonds finds himself in possession of beautiful quarters on the south side of the building on the second floor.

Rich oak has been used in the finishing and an artistic fireplace of art tiles in harmonizing shades adds the needed touch of hospitality to the room.

A beautiful memorial stained glass window looks out to the south, and cathedral windows look out to the north into the court, around which the building is built.

General Offices For Business of Church

Administrative and business affairs of the Glendale Presbyterian church are carried on in the offices located in the southwest corner of the main floor of the building.

Entering the "Tower Entrance" one turns to the left and going up a stair or two crosses a short hallway directly into the offices.

There is first a general office and back of it an inner office.

Oak furniture and modern office equipment have been installed and a clever counter is built to be let down across the main doorway, so that entire privacy can be maintained and those seeking information can be communicated with from the door.

The woodwork is stained gray, the same as in the Bible school rooms and hallways.

OPEN CHURCH SUNDAY

The Glendale Presbyterian church will be open at 8 o'clock Sunday morning for inspection. The dedicatory services will start at 9:30 o'clock, with a candle drill.

TODAY—Butler Considered "Nearest the Throne"; Massachusetts Solon to Play Important Role; Coolidge Adviser Also Has Own Ambitions.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Only three short years ago when flushed and exultant Republicans descended upon Washington in droves eager to gain the favor and the ear of a new president, the word that was quietly passed out to all newcomers by the initiated was:

"See Daugherty."

Everybody was advised to "See Daugherty"—whether he came in quest of a job, a pat on the back, or merely came to talk politics and get a line on how the new administration was getting under sail.

That was three years ago—a long time by the political clock—and times have changed. There is a new occupant in the White House.

And now it's:

"See Butler."

Who is this man Butler?

Well, he is fairly widely known up in that section of New England that is overrun with great industries, cotton mills, paper mills, manufactories of all sort, and his principal job right now is to see that Calvin Coolidge obtains a new lease on his present residence, dating from March 4, 1925.

He has quietly and with no tooting of horns, stepped into that position that is popularly known around the national capital, as "close to the throne." He will manage Calvin Coolidge's campaign for the nomination at Cleveland next June, and if successful in that endeavor, he in all probability, will direct the Republican campaign for Coolidge's election in the following November. The successful candidate for the nomination usually picks the campaign director, and there is but little doubt that if Calvin Coolidge is nominated, his campaign boss will be William M. Butler, of New Bedford, Mass.

William M. Butler is known as one of those Alger-like "poor boys" who occasionally go far in this modern game of business and politics. He was born in Massachusetts about sixty years ago. As a youth he worked in a clerical capacity in one of the numerous mills about New Bedford. Being ambitious he studied law, and in 1893, about the time Calvin Coolidge was graduating from Amherst College, he decided to run for the legislature. He was elected, and then and there began his political education.

Several years passed. There was a famous legislative investigation involving a gas company in Massachusetts and William M. Butler took a prominent part therein as a member of the House.

Several more years passed and found him in the Massachusetts State Senate, and subsequently he rose to the presidency of that body at a time when the late Murray Crane was sitting in the governor's mansion. He became a pupil and a protege of what was popularly known in Massachusetts as the "Crane School of Applied Politics."

But the legislative halls didn't hold him. He retired after a few years and engaged in the practice of law in Boston, building up a lucrative practice and always keeping his hand in Bay State politics, a quiet hand, but nevertheless a hand.

More years passed and found William M. Butler investing his earnings and his borrowings in the textile mills of New Bedford. His investments prospered and subsequently he turned from the law to manufacturing almost entirely. Today there are the Butler Mills to testify to his shrewdness and business sagacity.

He is popularly supposed to be worth a number of millions.

Always he kept his contract with Republican politics in Massachusetts. He never was a "leader," and at the same time he never was "out of the picture." His friendship with that masterly Bay State political leader, Murray Crane, continued until the latter's death—as did that of Calvin Coolidge.

Thus when Calvin Coolidge was suddenly pitchforked from the comparative oblivion of the vice-presidency into the glaring spotlight of the presidency and felt the need of political counsel, it was but natural perhaps, that he should turn to his old friend and fellow pupil of the Crane School, William M. Butler.

Mr. Butler came to Washington soon after Calvin Coolidge came to the big white residence on Pennsylvania avenue. He has remained here pretty constantly ever since. He comes and he goes in the White House at will. His working and living quarters are in a downtown hotel not far from the executive offices.

He is a medium-sized, stocky man, with smooth, unruffled, snow-white hair and a pair of shoulders that some football players would envy. By some standards, he would almost justify the word "handsome." His nose is prominent, his jaw aggressive, and his mouth for the most time, is kept tightly closed. He fairly radiates efficiency and business.

His job right now is to see that Calvin Coolidge is nominated at the Cleveland convention next June, and after that to see that he is elected. To the first end Mr. Butler will open general headquarters in Chicago, the last of December, and thereafter it is probable that Middle West and Far West will see a great deal of him. He isn't as widely known in those sections at present as he will be—say next June.

Mr. Butler has his own political ambitions, according to his intimates, and they are not directed toward the Cabinet nor toward an ambassadorship, as is the case with many political directors. It is said he wants to come to the United States Senate.

There is a senatorial election in Massachusetts next year coincident with the presidential election. The seat of a Democrat is at stake, that of David I. Walsh. Mr. Butler is understood to have his eye on that seat. And the betting is, in the corridors and lobbies of the Capitol, that he will come close to getting it. And that is no minimizing of Senator Walsh's strength, either, for that is acknowledged even by Bay State Republicans, to be considerable.

It is pointed out, however, that if Calvin Cooolidge is nominated for the presidency, his carrying of Massachusetts in the following November can be regarded as certain as death and taxes. And, according to the political wiseacres of the Capitol, he would be entirely likely to carry a ticket along with him.

PRETENDER TO FRENCH THRONE

Prince Louis De Bourbon Calls On Pontiff

"Prince Louis de Bourbon," pretender to the crown of France, looks considerably like the illustrious ancestor he claims, Louis XVI, in this picture, taken in Rome.

PARIS, Dec. 28.—A return of the monarchy is talked in France. The royalists are openly organized. A daily newspaper is published in Paris in their interests.

If the monarchy should be restored, it is certain that there would be several pretenders to the throne, despite the fact that the Duc d'Orleans, now in exile in England, is the recognized heir to the French kings that were.

Pretended "Dauphins" and heir of Dauphins, have been bobbing up in France and in Europe, ever since Louis XVI was put to death in the Revolution.

One claiming the public eye in Rome now because of a visit he made to the Pope in the interest of his claim, is "Prince Louis de Bourbon," who declares he is the grandson of King Louis XVII.

One who averred—and made many people believe—that he was Louis XVII lived in Delft, Holland, and died there. The government of the Netherlands has a record of his death, and the fact that royal honors were accorded him at the funeral, and recognized the right of his children and grandchildren to be called Prince of the Bourbons. The present pretender is a grandson of this man.

That the grandfather really was the Dauphin was never proved. It was declared that he was a Polish Jew named Naundorf, and that he was an impudent impostor, not even seemingly prepared for the part he had taken, having been born in 1775, making him considerably older than the lost heir to the crown.

The first of a long line of pretenders appears to have been one Jean Marie Hervagaunt, son of a tailor. His qualification for the pretense appears to have been but a slender one, that of having been born in 1781, only about three years before the Dauphin. This, taken by itself, would seem but a poor equipment for such a crime; but in comparison with some of the later claimants, it was not without reason of approximate possibility as far as date was concerned. He was successful for a time in his imposture as Louis XVIII, but was arrested and died in prison in Vitry in 1912.

The comic relief of the series was the seventh attempt, an American one. This was made by a half-breed Iroquois Indian Eleazer, who appeared to be the ninth son of Thomas Williams and an Indian woman, Mary. Eleazer had been almost an idiot until he was thirteen. He learned English, became a missionary, and married. He looked considerably like the late king. In 1841, the Prince de Joinville, seeing him on his travels in the United States, told him he was the son of a king, and got him to sign a paper which later turned out to be an abdication in favor of Louis Philippe.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CHRISTMAS BELL

"Well, Nurse Jane, is everything about ready for Christmas?" asked Uncle Wiggily of his muskrat lady housekeeper one day. "You know Santa Claus will be coming along next week."

"Yes, I think nearly everything is ready," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "You'll attend to getting the Christmas tree, I suppose?"

"I'll get that on Saturday," answered Mr. Longears. "But what about a bell, Nurse Jane?"

"A bell?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, somewhat surprised.

"Yes," went on the rabbit gentleman. "You know there must always be merry chimes of bells ringing out on Christmas morning. There must be bells and horns and all manner of jolly noises. Now I have the horn—I bought that yesterday. But what about a bell?"

"Could you use the front door bell?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Oh, no, it must be a louder bell than that," said Uncle Wiggily.

"What about the dinner bell?" inquired Nurse Jane.

"I'm afraid if I rang that bell the Fox and Wolf might think we wanted them to come to dinner," laughed the bunny. I'm afraid that wouldn't do, either. I guess I had better go buy a new Christmas bell to ring, Nurse Jane."

"Perhaps you had," agreed the muskrat lady.

So Uncle Wiggily, after giving his pink nose a twinkle or two to get it warm before going out in the cold wind, started from his hollow stump bungalow to get the Christmas bell.

"And perhaps I may have an adventure—who knows?" asked Mr. Longears. "If I do, it will be quite jolly."

Well, he did have an adventure, but at first it was not so jolly as he thought it would be. I shall tell you about it.

"Tra-la-la! Tra-la-la!" sang Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped over the fields and through the woods. "I shall get a Christmas bell. Then all will be jolly—all will be well. Tra-la-la!" And he felt almost as happy as though spring had come.

The rabbit gentleman hopped to the 15 and 16-cent store, for he wanted an extra loud and extra tinkling bell for Christmas, and there he bought one. It was a brass bell with a red handle, and it had a tongue dangling inside. At least they call it a tongue, though a bell does not exactly speak.

However, it does, in a way, tell us what to do; doesn't it? A bell tells us when it is time to go to school, or to church, and it tells us when there is a fire, or anything like that.

Uncle Wiggily bought the Christmas bell, but, before he took it from the store, he asked the little mousie girl clerk to wrap a bit of paper around the clapper, or tongue.

"What for?" inquired the mousie girl clerk.

"I don't want the Christmas bell to ring until Christmas morning," said Uncle Wiggily. "If I didn't have paper on the clapper tongue, to keep it silent, the bell would ring ahead of time."

So the mousie girl muffled the bell clapper, and the rabbit gentleman started off across the fields and though the woods to get ready for Christmas.

Now, as it happened, the Woozie Wolf had started out that day to try and catch the rabbit gentleman.

"I must have some ear nibbles for Christmas," growled the Wolf to himself, as he slunk out of his dismal den. "I must have some of Uncle Wiggily's ear nibbles. It is about all I'll get for Christmas, anyhow, I guess. And I'll have to make myself a present of them for Uncle Wiggily won't give them to me. I'll go out now and catch him. I'll have some fine nibbles for Christmas."

Out started the Wolf, and he met Uncle Wiggily coming home with the Christmas bell.

"Oh, ho! Now I have you!" growled the Wolf, showing his sharp teeth and his red tongue. "Come along to my den!"

"Oh, you wouldn't take me off to your den before I have had a chance to hear my Christmas bell ring, would you?" pleaded the bunny.

"What do you mean?" asked the Wolf, curious-like.

"Just let me ring my Christmas bell once more before you take me off to your den," begged the rabbit.

"All right—ring the bell once, and then I'll nibble you!" snarled the Wolf.

Uncle Wiggily unwrapped the bell. He took the muffling paper from the clapper. Then he rang it "Clang! Clang! Dong! Dong!" pealed out the bell.

"Oh, ho! That must be a fire. I'll go put the fire out," bleated Uncle Butter, the Goat, who lived not far away. Catching up a pail of water, Uncle Butter ran to where Uncle Wiggily was ringing the Christmas bell.

"Oh, it isn't a fire! But I'll use the water just the same!" cried the Goat, as he saw the Wolf near Uncle Wiggily. Then Br. Butter tossed the pail of water all over the Wolf.

"Ugh! Blub! Slub! Glub!" gurgled the bad chap. "Oh, how cold and wet I am!" he howled, and away he ran to get dry, not taking Uncle Wiggily with him or nibbling the bunny's ears.

"Ha, Ha!" laughed the rabbit. "I'm glad I rang the Christmas bell ahead of time."

"And I'm glad I thought there was a fire, though there wasn't," bleated Uncle Butter. So they were both happy.

"HIS CHILDREN'S CHILDREN"

Featuring
Bebe Daniels, George Fawcett, Mahlon Hamilton and a Big Cast.

The story of "His Children's Children" is not the mere weaving of an author's imagination. It's the amazing truth about New York's so-called "exclusive set." The story of a family from the first to the third generation—of human happiness—human weakness — human strength.

Police of Colorado Seek Missing Beauty

DENVER, Dec. 29.—An extensive search is being conducted throughout the state by law officers for Mrs. Daniel Currier, 35 years old and pretty, of Detroit, who disappeared from a Colorado Springs hotel, November 30, and of whom there is no trace. Mrs. Currier registered on the night of November 29 and left the hotel the next morning. After a prolonged absence, the hotel management called in the police and her room was searched. A quantity of clothing, a suit case and handbag were found. All marks of identification had been removed from the clothing. A cameo pin, with the picture of a man and woman on the back, was found in a plush lined box.

PUPILS TO HAVE DIPHTHERIA TEST

Consent of Parents Sought to Try Schick Method on All Children

Announcement was made yesterday by Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, that shortly after the first of the year every child attending the Glendale schools would be given the opportunity of undergoing the Schick test.

This test has recently been perfected by scientists in the employ of the public health service of the United States government, aided by donations from large insurance companies. It will positively determine whether the patient is subject to or immune from diphtheria.

If the test is positive, a prophylactic will be given, if the parents of the child desire, which, after a period of three months subsequent to treatment, will render the boy or girl absolutely free from the danger of contracting diphtheria.

Some Are Immune

"This test will be given to all pupils whose parents do not object. If the test determines that the child is subject to diphtheria, we will give the prophylactic, if requested, at cost, which will not exceed $1.50 in any case. Of course, as some children are immune from diphtheria, the prophylactic in these cases will not be necessary. The prophylactic is in the shape of a serum, injected three times at intervals of five days.

"Last year 500 school children died from diphtheria in the state of California. These lives might just as well have been saved to the country, if the Schick test had been made.

"I cannot urge too strongly that every parent allow us to ascertain if his child is subject to this dreadful disease. The administering of the prophylactic is not painful, as in vaccination, and will not incapacitate the child in any way."

GIFTS SHOWERED ON HUNGRY BABY

Santa Claus Names Elks As Deputies to Bring Joy to Mother, Child

By F. A. GRAHAM
Of The Evening News Staff.

"I didn't care so much for myself, but my baby girl was hungry."

Who else but a mother could have said those words? They, the mother and 7-year-old, ringlet-haired daughter, live in Tujunga. The husband and father deserted them. New arrivals and proud, they had no friends they might turn to and the thought of appealing to strangers was distasteful to the mother. The mother is not strong and is unable to work. Neighbors said she would be stronger, but she has been giving all their meager food to the beautiful little girl, who is rosy and robust. Mothers will do that.

As Christmas day drew nearer and their food supply dwindled little by little, the mother began to wonder what excuse she could think of to tell her baby when Santa Claus failed to come to their house

Santa Claus Comes

But Santa Claus did not fail. In fact, he arrived ahead of schedule. Monday, the day before Christmas, a huge truck, very unlike a sleigh, drew up before the door. A young man with no whiskers and very unlike little girls are wont to picture Santa Claus, was driving. It may have been Santa's son. He knocked at the door. When it was opened, Santa Claus, Jr., grinned and said, "Here's a Merry Christmas for you from the Elks," and carried a big box, bulging with packages, into the house.

That's all, except that the last bite of food had been eaten before the box arrived and the mother and little daughter were without the means of another meal. Friendly neighbors, realizing the situation, but hesitating to offer personal assistance, out of respect for the mother's proud spirit, had in some mysterious way managed to inform Santa Claus, who directed his Verdugo Hills managers, the Elks of lodge No. 1289, to get busy. They did, and many another home was made glad by their activities.

As the mother and daughter sat partaking of the good things Christmas day, the mother said. "I didn't care so much for myself, but my baby girl was hungry."
